DUTCH, BELGIANS SET FOR ATTACK

FBI Hunts Others In Plot Against U. S.

18 ARRESTED IN N. Y. ENTER PLEAS TODAY

Hoover Says Suspects Already in Jail Planned Revolution, Deaths of 12 Solons.

GUNS, BOMBS CONFISCATED

Claims 'Christian Front' Group Sought to Start Campaign of Terrorism, Revolt.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK —(UNS)— The release, with apologies, of one of 18 men nabbed by federal agents in connection with a plot allegedly aimed at overthrow of the government was announced today. Shortly afterward, 16 of the 17 others entered pleas of not guilty and were held on bail of $50,000 each.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — A plot to smash the government of the United States and replace it with a dictatorship through bombings and assassination was charged today against 18 New York members of a "Christian front."

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, implied, in announcing the disruption of the alleged plot, that the 18 now under arrest were merely the nucleus of a nation-wide conspiracy.

FBI agents were searching in many localities for caches of arms such as the "small arsenal" they found in New York City in the course of a six-month investigation of the alleged conspirators.

The 18 scheduled for arraignment today in Brooklyn federal court were charged specifically with seditious conspiracy to create a revolution and overthrow the government of the United States.

The penalty could be six years in prison and a $5,000 fine for each.

Planned To Kill Congressmen.

Among their tentative aims, Hoover said, was the assassination of 12 congressmen—identities not disclosed—as examples to all those who voted for repeal of the arms embargo.

The day for striking against the government, Hoover said, was to be soon after a final drill in bomb-

400 Killed, 3,000 Homes Destroyed In Japanese Fire

TOKYO — (UNS) — At least 400 persons were estimated to have perished today at Shizuoka, in a fire, the largest in the city's history, which brought untold destruction, levelling some 3,000 houses and stores.

The Shizuoka railway station was wiped out and the main-line railway and all communications were cut off.

Efforts to check spread of the flames appeared futile and the fire spread through the city hours after it first broke out.

Damage, if any, suffered by seven American and British firms with property at Shizuoka, including the M. J. B. concern of San Francisco, Socony-Vacuum and National Cash Register, could not be established immediately. Likewise the fate of American Tea firm properties, including those of the Hillyer Brothers firm of Chicago, was not known.

REV. MILTON G. NICOLA

REV. NICOLA TO GO TO RAVENNA

Rector of Grace Church for 17 Years Resigns to Accept Call to Home Town.

Rev. Milton G. Nicola, rector at Grace Episcopal church here for the past 17 years, yesterday resigned to accept a call as rector of Grace Episcopal church in Ravenna, his home town.

The resignation was submitted at a special meeting of the vestry, governing body of the church, following the morning service of worship, and was accepted by that body, effective March 1. Rev. Nicola will deliver his last sermon as pastor of the local church, Feb. 26.

In accepting the Ravenna call, Rev. Nicola returns to his home church in which he was baptized, confirmed, served as choir boy, and to the church from which his mother and father were both buried, and where his step-father served as senior warden for a number of years.

The church, built over 100 years ago, is the oldest church in Ravenna. Rev. Nicola was born and raised in Ravenna, and when he returns there in March, will live in the house in which he was born. The home is about 100 years old.

Rev. Nicola received a unanimous call from the Ravenna congregation Dec. 31, last year, but

A. G. Stoltz, Bucyrus, was elected president of the Ohio Gun Collectors association at a weekend meeting in Lima, and Guy E. Shawk was named historian.

Other officers named were Thomas McMullen, Akron, vice president, and Perry Brown, Canton, secretary-treasurer.

Fifty members attended the meeting and there were 25 exhibitors. Ten new members were inducted.

Directors were also elected at the meeting. Those named were Thomas Holt, Cincinnati; William Pulford, Lima; Fred Braucher, Akron, and W. G. Ralston, Detroit.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Bus Driver In Accident, Hits 9 More Cars 10 Minutes Later.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — When it rained, it poured for Bus Driver Nick Hummel.

Hummel had a minor accident at a busy street intersection, then started up again and within 10 minutes clipped nine other autos.

He was charged with careless driving, leaving the scene of an accident, not having a chauffeur's license and making a u-turn in a congested district.

50 FLEE FLAMES

CINCINNATI — (UNS) — Workers today repaired a building at the Cincinnati Sanitarium from which 50 patients were led into the cold when fire broke out in the basement. Fire Marshal Harry Held said an overheated furnace cause dthe blaze. Damage was slight.

Low Temperatures Due To Stay; More Snow Due Tuesday.

FLEE WILLARD FIRE

Family of Six Escapes Death In Flaming Home Today.

Gales that unroofed buildings and blew trees across highways in the Mansfield area swept a new cold wave into Ohio last night, dropping the temperature 25 degrees in a few hours in Mansfield.

The weather used most of its bag of tricks in the past 24 hours. Mansfield had mild temperatures, a spring-like thunder storm, hail, rain, and finally snow.

In sections of central and eastern Ohio the wind reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour yesterday, causing heavy damage. Southeastern counties of the state had floods as melting snow and rain ran into the creeks. The wind piled ice high along the shores of Lake Erie, threatening to destroy summer cottages.

Near Willard, Tony Prederei carried his wife and four small children to safety through a window after he awoke about 4 a. m. today and found their home in flames.

Dressed only in their night clothes, Prederei and his family drove five miles to her parent's home in New Pittsburgh. George Dawson, a neighbor, summoned help, but the Prederei home was beyond saving.

The roof on the home of George Hoffman at Willard was partly blown away and a number of trees were blown across route 224 near Willard.

There was only minor damage to buildings in the Mansfield vicinity, but traffic was halted at four or five places on state highways in the county late yesterday while workmen cleared away trees that had been blown down.

More than a half inch of rain fell yesterday in Mansfield before the gale swept the cold wave into Ohio. The temperature here skidded to 21 degrees early today from a high of 46 yesterday.

The rain washed away most of the city's snow blanket, but there was a new and lighter one to replace it this morning.

Skies will clear and the mercury will drop lower today, the weatherman said. There may be snow flurries again Tuesday, but it will be generally fair and cold, he added. Lowest in the state tonight is expected to be about 15 degrees.

At Toledo, deputy sheriffs were considering dynamiting a 40-foot wall of ice along the lake shore to save cottages. High winds forced cancellation of most flights from Cleveland air port. Windows were blown in and signs were wrecked at Salem.

Tornadoes in Alabama killed six persons and injured a number of others. Roads were blocked by snow drifts in Illinois and Iowa, and the cold extended as far south as the Gulf of Mexico.

COLUMBUS—(UNS)—A briefcase containing $530 was stolen from the home of J. W. Packard, police reported today.

Faints At Story Of Child's Death

Overwhelmed by details of the slaying of her 14-year-old daughter, Joan, Mrs. Mayme Stevens is shown being revived by daughter, Rita, after Mrs. Stevens had swooned during trial of Corporal Benjamin Franklin at Mauch Chunk, Pa. The Pennsylvania state trooper had told jury how he fired eight bullets into the girl's body when she "threatened" him with a toy gun. The trooper yesterday was acquitted of second degree murder charges in the girl's slaying.

Bromfield Drops Out Of Race for Congress

Author Decides Against Taking Whirl At Politics Because of Other Obligations, Calls On Time.

The free-for-all contest for party nominations for the 17th district congressional seat cleared up a bit today, with the announcement from Novelist Louis Bromfield that he was withdrawing from the race.

Bromfield made his announcement from Hollywood where he is writing motion picture stories. He sent his "regrets" to Roe E. Wolfe, Ashland county Democratic chairman.

"After careful consideration I have decided that circumstances beyond my control make it necessary for me to withdraw my name at this time as candidate for nomination at the primaries," the author said in a telegram to Wolfe, which was also released to newspapers.

"Circumstances and obligations beyond my control make it impossible for me to undertake any further responsibilities during the coming year," he continued, "and I am unwilling to enter any contest without being able to devote my whole heart and energies to the undertaking. I withdraw filled with regrets and deep appreciation of the efforts of all those good friends and fellow Democrats who urged my candidacy."

A week ago the author wired Wolfe that he was willing to accept the latter's invitation to become a candidate in the primary election for the seat vacated by the death of William A. Ashbrook on Jan. 1.

In withdrawing today, Bromfield expressed the hope that "the nomination and election will be won by a Democrat with the interest of party unity at heart and with devotion to the ideals and principles set forth by the distinguished leader of

BRITISH REPLY

Panama Told Sea Safety Zone Unenforceable Under Law.

LONDON—(AP)—British sources stated today that Great Britain had replied to the protest of 21 American republics against violation of their neutrality "safety zone" by taking the position that the zone was unenforceable under international law.

The British reply was in the form of a note transmitted to the Panama government for presentation to the permanent Pan American neutrality committee, it was said. Its contents were withheld.

Replies to the United States government on its protests against the diversion of mails and the bringing of United States vessels into contraband control points in the war zone are expected to go forward soon.

Ashland Bank Head Who Began As Clerk 51 Years Ago Dies

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND — George R. Freer 71, president of the Farmers bank here, died early today at his home on Center street after an illness of several months.

Born Aug. 17, 1868 in Ashland, Mr. Freer spent his entire life here. Only recently he was re-elected to his fourth year as president of the bank, with which he had been associated since he was 20. He was first employed as a clerk, and in 1915 was named cashier.

Mr. Freer was prominent in Ohio banking circles, and was chairman of Group 6 of the Ohio Bankers association. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, the Ashland Country club and Presbyterian church, and last year concluded 24 years as a member of the Ashland school board. He served as president of the board for two terms.

Surviving are his wife, Myrtilla Brown Freer; two sons, Raymond B. and George Gaylord, and two brothers, Frank W. and Charles R., all of Ashland, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the family home with Dr. H. E. Andrews, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

U. S. TO BOOST NAVAL FORCES IN ATLANTIC

Cruisers and Destroyers to Be Added to Fleet, Washington Sources Indicate.

CITE 'WORLD CONDITIONS'

Navy Strategists Believe Eastern Sea Should Get Heavier Guard.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A major enlargement of American naval forces in the Atlantic is contemplated in confidential navy department defense plans, it was learned today.

These plans envisage the addition of a large number of cruisers, destroyers and lesser warcraft to the present small-sized Atlantic naval squadron.

Takes Several Years.

Building up the naval forces in the Atlantic will require several years and the expansion of this eastern fleet will be confined to vessels below the battleship category.

The ships to be assigned to service off the east coast principally will be over-age vessels eventually withdrawn from the main battle-fleet in the Pacific There will be no weakening of the west coast fleet through these withdrawals since virtually all new warship tonnage is placed into service in the Pacific.

Although the navy relies largely on British sea power to guard the Atlantic, naval strategists feel that the American defense forces in the east should be strengthened in the light of world conditions.

The Atlantic squadron has been augmented in recent months through the recommissioning of approximately 70 old destroyers, most of which are being assigned to neutrality patrol activities within the western hemisphere "safety belt."

Fleet Strength Now.

In addition to these destroyers, American sea power in the east includes three battleships, one aircraft carrier, four cruisers, 14 destroyers not on patrol duty, and a number of submarines and other small ships based at New London and the Panama Canal.

Expansion of the Atlantic squadron is in no sense the establishment of a two-ocean navy, officials emphasized. Over-age tonnage will be put in service in this area in proportion to the number of new warships that are added to the Pacific fleet.

NAZI SPY HELD

U. S. Officials Find Him as Crewman on Scuttled Ship.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Karl Schleuter, high-ranking German spy, was found among the crew of the scuttled German liner Columbus and is being questioned by federal officials, it was reported today.

Schleuter, who fled the United States after he was indicted in connection with the Nazi spy ring uncovered in October, 1938, had posed since as a steward on German liners in the South American service to continue his espionage activities, it was said.

While the feredal bureau of investigation sought to maintain secrecy regarding his capture, news of it became known after 512 crew members of the Columbus entrained aboard two trains for San Francisco, whence they will sail for home, presumably via Siberia and Russia.

CRASH IN SNOW

Trucks Collide Near Cleveland, Driver of One Killed.

CLEVELAND— (U.P.) —Ted Edward, 24, truck driver for a Detroit cartage firm, was killed today when two trucks collided and caught fire in North Olmstead village.

The accident occurred during a snow storm. Charles Cox, 31 Rochester, N. Y., driver of the other truck, received serious burns.

Company Says Cause of Mine Blast Won't Be Known.

BARTLEY, W. Va.—(AP)— An official of the Pond Creek Pocahontas company, operators of the Bartley No. 1 coal mine in which 91 men were killed by an explosion last week, said today the cause of the blast "may never be known."

Amid investigations of the disaster, R. E. Salvati, company vice president, said no reason had been found for "the ignition of gas" which set off the nation's worst mine accident in 12 years.

Million Troops At Posts Along 300-Mile Front

Belgium Hears of New Concentrations Of German Troops Along Borders of Lowlands; Civilians Begin Leaving Some Towns; Nonsense Say Nazis.

(By Associated Press)

AMSTERDAM—Under virtually complete mobilization, the armies of Belgium and the Netherlands were massed today behind frontier defenses to meet any German threat to the Lowlands' neutrality.

Close to 1,000,000 Belgian and Netherlands soldiers were reported already at or ordered to positions along the meandering border—a 300-mile wall through which Germany would have to smash to outflank the British-French allies on the western front.

(Germany in the past has denied planning any such maneuver.)

In Belgium, there were disturbing reports of new concentrations of Nazi attack troops, while in the Netherlands, a government communique spoke of "certain less favorable symptoms in the international situation."

Belgium bustled about the task of stepping up her defensive powers. Throughout Sunday, soldier-laden trucks rolled through Brussels toward the frontier, while messengers summoned officers and men from their homes, churches, cafes and theaters.

The Brussels government put into force "phase D" of her mobilization plan, filling the ranks of skeleton units with such specialists as machine-gunners, artillerymen and tank drivers.

The final step for complete mobilization would be enforcement of phase E—likely only in event of an actual outbreak of hostilities.

Belgian officials would not disclose the number of men under arms, but under phase D Belgium considers herself on practically a war footing. As if to clear the ground for any eventuality, an exodus of civilians from border provinces was started.

Prases A, B and C of Belgium's mobilization program were effected last September after Great Britain and France went to war with Germany.

(The lowlands' defense measures were characterized in Berlin as "another fear epidemic based on false reports." Informed quarters there said reports of German military moves along the lowland border were "so much nonsense that it is doubtful if an official denial will be issued.")

King Leopold Takes Command of Army.

BRUSSELS — (U.P.) — King Leopold assumed supreme command of all the armed forces today, as his father King Albert had done in the World war.

The army staff took over the direction of all military operations and formed a general headquarters. The calling up of new men to the army over the week-

HELSINKI: Reds Resume Air Raids On Southern Finn Cities

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—The Russian air force, attacking again after unleashing yesterday the worst aerial offensive of the Russian-Finnish war, resumed bombing raids on south Finland today.

Two air alarms were sounded in Helsinki shortly after noon. No damage was reported downtown, but some bombs were reported to have fallen in the outskirts.

It was intensely cold and the Soviet planes flew extremely high.

As a result of yesterday's widespread attack Finns feared that Russian strategy called for a powerful assault on behind-the-lines morale to break military resistance at the front.

Civilians of a score of southern Finnish cities and towns surveyed the ruins of homes and public buildings caught in the sweep of Sunday's far-flung air raids. Fires raged in almost a dozen cities.

In attacks lasting four hours, the Russians dropped hundreds of incendiary bombs and along the Turku-Helsinki railway and elsewhere were reported to have swooped low to attack civilians with machine-guns.

A Finnish communique reported that 15 were known dead, "several dozen" wounded and that many private homes were destroyed by fire.

Raids which drove residents of the capital to cover twice during the day killed three persons.

The former residence of the United States minister was damaged by bombs in Grankulla, resort town west of Helsinki, but nobody was injured. The American minister, H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, and his entire legation staff had moved a few days ago to larger quarters.

The new legation here, nearing completion, also narrowly escaped being damaged in Saturday's raid on the capital.

MOSCOW: Russians Threaten Norway, Sweden For Finn Aid

MOSCOW—Waving her cudgels at Sweden and Norway, Soviet Russia today threatened "undesirable consequences" if those two Scandinavian nations persist in aiding Finland in her war against the U.S.S.R.

The Moscow government revealed that formal Soviet protests against their aid to Finland had been sent to Sweden and Norway and that the nature of their replies had caused "danger" to arise.

Carrying the war of words a step further, Russia charged semi-officially that Sweden and Norway had not offered sufficient resistance to alleged attempts by western powers—meaning Britain and France, although they were not named to "inveigle Sweden and Norway into war against the Soviet."

The diplomatic exchanges were made public by the Tass (Russian) news agency, which commented that the replies from Stockholm and Oslo were not satisfactory to Moscow.

In the protests, delivered Jan 5 Russia accused the two small nations of tolerating an "anti-Soviet campaign" and permitting volunteers and arms for Finland to go from or pass through their territories. The notes threatened "undesirable consequences" unless both nations called an immediate halt to these activities.

Sweden and Norway replied that volunteers aiding the Finns were not members of their armies and could not legally be restrained. Norway said she was not permitting transit of arms through her territory but Sweden made no declaration on that particular point.

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

A rooster crowed loudly in the yard back of an old-fashioned house set far back from the road where Fabienne Seymour, with her coat collar turned up and her hair tucked uder her hat, sat beside the driver's seat of a white milk truck. The driver had disappeared around back of the porch of the old house.

He came back a few minutes later and got in beside her "Where'd you want to get off?" he asked, giving her a sidewise look and wondering why he never picked up any good looking ones. This one's face was streaked and her coat was crumpled and soiled from oil and smoke and smudge.

"Just anywhere in the center of town. I—I'll hang around until the garage opens and I can get help to go get my car."

"Tough luck. Bin drivin' all night?"

She nodded. Casually, she said, "You ought to know all the folk around this village. I used to know a man who was an amateur—er—radio fan. He had a sending station around here some place. Met him in Danbury at a dance once."

"Sure. Joe Willis. He got a prize last year for doing some rescue work when the lines was down. He lives up the road a piece."

"That's the one! Where does he live?"

"The little red house next to the Congregational church"

"The Congregational church? That's on the green?" she asked, hoping that the town had the usual New England green.

"Right."

Fabienne didn't say anything until they got near the village and she saw the spires of the churches through the barren branches of the trees.

"You can let me off any place here," she said then.

"It'll be pretty cold waiting. The garage doesn't open until eight."

"Oh, I don't mind," she said heartily. "Maybe I can rouse somebody."

Rousing anyone was what she did not want to do. She didn't want to see anyone. All she wanted to do was find a heavy stone and complete her operations unseen.

"Don't take any wooden nickels," the milk driver told her.

* * *

She promised she wouldn't, waved gaily to him and watched his truck out of sight. Then she struck off across the green for the little red house beside the Congregational church, keeping an eye out for a large stone

She found a brick, the best of all missiles, and felt for the string and piece of paper in her pocket.

Back of the trunk of a large tree she furtively fastened the paper to the brick and tied it firmly with string. Then she skirted the front and side of the red cottage, praying she'd meet no one, that no one in the house was yet awake.

Providence was with her. There was neither sight nor sound of a human being when she broke the glass in what she took to be a kitchen window and dropped the brick through, hearing it fall on the floor.

* * *

Ellen brushed the last traces of her afternoon sleep from her eyes and went into the living room where Nicky and Bill were keeping the watch by the radio. "Mike Kennedy should be on now," she told them. "He's on WHBH."

The commentator had already started his broadcast. When they found him on the dial, he was saying. ". . . none of the usual crank letters with clues, suggestions and false leads that usually flood police headquarters, newspaper and radio offices. For that reason, this station is inclined to agree with the amateur operator who telephoned this station a short time ago to report an incident which may have some bearing on the Parsons case."

A few minutes ago a telephone call was received by WHBH. We quote the following conversation, word for word.

"WHBH? Let me talk to the chief engineer. "Garson speaking, chief engineer." "Garson, this is Joe Willis, WLXBS, Danbury Connecticut." "Go ahead Willis. What's on your mind?" "Something I thought might have a connection with the Parsons mystery. The police think they still might be near New York. Well, a little while ago I found a message wrapped around a brick that had been thrown in my kitchen." "Hold the wire, Willis. I'll write it down. Okay, go ahead." "It's kinda funny, Garson, but here goes: "Get this message on networks. Matter of life and death. Message is for Bill—just Bill. Tell him he's needed where apple butter was made.' Repeat: 'Tell Bill he's needed where apple butter was made!' No name, no address. That's all."

That, ladies and gentlemen, concludes the message. If Bill is listening—"

Bill was no longer listening; he was on his feet, issuing orders, struggling into his coat, shouting, "Ellen, you get things ready here. Bartlett, get Parsons on the phone and tell him to be ready for me when I pick him up. Don't tell him—or anyone else—anything at all!"

* * *

Chris said, "Do you think—"

Fabienne shook her head helplessly. "I'm afraid not. It's twelve hours since I left the message. It seems as if—"

Chris said, "I hear an automobile!"

Fabienne ran to the window and saw the twin lights appearing over the hill, coming closer. The car was slowing up in front of the house!

"The police?" Chris breathed in a terror-stricken whisper.

"No! I recognize the car: It's Bill!" Fabienne stumbled a little in her eagerness to reach the door, hearing his voice. Her knees folded under her and she sat on the end of Sonny's cot, a step from the door which was opening.

"Chris! Are you here? . Darling!"

And beside her, mountainous, strong and more wonderful than the sight of angels was Bill!

That, Fabienne thought, was the moment for her to stand up and begin explaining. But Fabienne stayed where she was and her face wrinkled up in a most unattractive way and she began to cry.

Bill said, "Here, blow your nose, and stop that racket. I want to hear what this girl is saying."

His words were curt, but his arm around her shoulder gave her strength and, if she dared look at him, she would have seen that he was smiling tenderly.

* * *

Chris was talking, lucidly, clearly, bravely, telling them what she had done.

"It's not your fault, Chris. It's all mine. There's nothing to worry about," Larry told her, shakily. "Dad's had a good fright. He'll fix the police. And with Mallory's story to back you up, there's no trouble ahead."

Fabienne: "Bill, what did you do?"

"Nothing much, my sweet. I said I HAD discharged Sonny and forgot to notify the hospital authorities. That's all."

"ALL!" she said, with her eyes growing troubled. "Oh, Bill! That's a dreadful mark against you. Why, oh why, did you do it?"

"What else could I do?" he said simply. "I had to do it."

"But you didn't!"

"I did," he repeated. "You see, it's this way, Fab. I'm in love with you."

There wasn't, there simply wasn't anything she could say. She began to tremble, shaking the cot on which they sat.

"Here, here, this will never do! You've got to get back to town before you get pneumonia. Don't try to talk, darling," he said, wrapping her in a blanket and picking her up as easily and tenderly as if she were a child.

THEATERS

Little But Mighty.

The havoc that one small child can promote is beautifully demonstrated in "Brother Rat and a Baby." "Commencement" starts things off by getting his father fired as athletic coach when he swallows a quarter and his father rushes home at the opening of a championship game. Then he swallows a diamond ring. Later he breaks up a romance merely by messing up a lady's hair, breaks a clipper ship model of great value, and while playing with a cigaret lighter sets fire to the house. Lastly, he is stowed away in an airplane headed for Peru. The picture runs through tomorrow at the Ohio.

* * *

Impressive Background.

Truly "colossal" sets were made for "Tower of London," which will be shown at the Madison through tomorrow. The exterior sets of the Tower were 75 feet high and permitted a vista of 1,200 feet in length. This impressive background is used in a story of one of the most dramatic episodes in English history; an episode filled with intrigue, war, politics and romance.

* * *

Two Big Features.

Two features high in entertainment value are booked for the middle of the week at the Majestic. "On Borrowed Time" is the whimsical story of an old man, a very small boy and "Mr. Brink," and the old man's determination to keep "Mr. Brink" away from his grandson. Lionel Barrymore, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Bob Watson have the featured roles. "Daughters Courageous," the sequel to "Four Daughters" is also on the bill with a cast that includes the Lane sisters, Gale Page and John Garfield.

* * *

Dress For Cinderella.

The lovely dress which the fairy godmother spun for Cinderella to wear to the ball is duplicated for Deanna Durbin in "First Love," and the modern version is fully as gorgeous as the one in the fairy story. Instead of a godmother, however, there is a butler and the house servants who make the ball possible for a present day Cinderella. The Park is showing "First Love," together with "Thou Shalt Not Kill," a sociological drama.

* * *

Participants Wrote Play.

The story of "Thunder Afloat" grew out of a reminiscence session in a Hollywood studio between one of the young boys who turned navy gunner on a small submarine chaser off the New England coast during the World war, and a retired destroyer squadron leader. Out of this session came a stirring story of that little known episode and Wallace Beery and Chester Morris were chosen to portray it. "Chicken Wagon Family," also at the Ritz, is the story of a carefree vagabond family of the road.

Friends Told How Wonderful Vendol Is For Constipation

Springfield Lady Now Says She Can Recommend This Great Medicine Because It Made Her Feel Better Than For Many a Day.

MRS. CLARA YOUNG

"I heard, and often read in the papers, about what Vendol was doing for men and women right here and in nearby towns, and feeling the need of such a medicine I decided to give it a trial to see if it would help me the same way, and it did everything I expected of it," says Mrs. Clara Young of 734 Reed Ave., Springfield, Ohio.

"My troubles were all due to constipation which made me suffer from acid dyspepsia, sour stomach, gas pains, shortness of breath, and also sometimes made me feel dizzy and I'd see little spots dancing before my eyes. Every morning I'd wake up with a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, and an unpleasant breath.

"Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets gave the most wonderful relief from my constipation that I'd found anywhere; then, the other troubles disappeared very fast until now I am never troubled like I was before with sour stomach and the others.

"Vendol relieved the constipation so nicely that I enjoy restful sleep and awaken ready for my day's work. It has done me so much good that I expect to continue taking it for a while longer. I think it a wonderful medicine."

Make up your mind now to begin taking Vendol and see for yourself what it will do.

"Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts.; ask for the Vendol Man and receive a free sample of Vendol. Most all druggists sell and highly recommend Vendol."

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

Monday, Jan. 15.

Lucy, dear:

Marianne

MANSFIELD has all the earmarks of Chicago on a day in March just now—with the wind blowing quite a gale, swirling snow and low, gray overcast skies. . . . And I do believe the wind must have had a bad effect on folks hereabouts because I don't think they ventured out to make much news—at least I'm afraid I don't have much for you today, Lucy.

* * * * *

I just received the announcement of a reception to be held in Washington, D. C. next Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Bertha Mae Droz, of Mansfield, national president of the Daughters of Union Veterans. . . . The affair is being given by the D. of U. V. and will also honor John E. Andrew, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. . . . The function will be from 8 until 10 o'clock at the National Headquarters building, 1326 Eighteenth street, N.W.

* * * * *

While downtown shopping Saturday, I met Marjorie Bolus. . . . She was looking fine, so evidently her work in Sandusky must agree with her. . . . She was graduated from Miami university at Oxford last June, you know, and this is her first year of teaching—the sixth and seventh grades in the Sandusky Public schools. . . . She says she likes it there just fine, but still looks forward to her visits home.

* * * * *

And speaking of former Mansfielders, if you're ever in Bridgeport, Conn. on a Tuesday noon, Lucy, you must plan to have luncheon at Read's Department store. . . . Irene Holcombe Park is modeling there now—and this season, it's southern resort wear—the lucky gal! Irene and her husband, George, who formerly lived here, moved from Cleveland to Bridgeport last fall—George is affiliated with the General Electric company there. . . . Irene came by her job merely by answering a store ad just for fun—but now she really enjoys the work.

* * * * *

WITTENBERG alumni of Mansfield and the surrounding territory will gather tomorrow evening at St. Matthew's Lutheran church for their annual banquet, business and program. . . . K. G. Lind of the English and Journalism departments at the college will be the principal speaker—he's publicity director there, too, you know. . . . Homer McFadden, a former Mansfielder who now resides in Springfield, and D. L. Keyser, alumni secretary, will also be here for the affair. . . . Moving pictures of the campus and a musical program will be other features of the evening.

* * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sparks, with their daughters, Sue and Carol, went to Columbus Saturday to make their future home . . . Mr. Sparks, who has been affiliated with the R. B. Maxwell company here, will be connected with Lazarus' store there.

* * * * *

I'M SORRY to say that that just about winds up the news for today, Lucy. If you'll write me a long letter in the meantime, I promise I'll try to have a lot more news for you when I write again next Monday.

Lovingly,

Marianne

SPEAKS TONIGHT.

Miss Ruth Isabel Seabury will speak at the First Congregational church tonight at 8 p. m. on the Madras conference. Miss Seabury, educational secretary of the American Board of Commissions for Foreign Missions of Boston, will discuss the conference theme at the session which is open to the public without charge.

Recent Marriages Revealed in Mansfield Circles

Mrs. Max McFarland, above, is now making her home at Little Washington with her husband. Before her marriage at Ashland, Dec. 29, 1939, Mrs. McFarland was Miss Miriam Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop of Hayesville. She was formerly employed here at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

A wedding of last week was that of Miss Helen Florence Bunn, above, and Clarence C. Brown. Miss Bunn and Mr. Brown were married Jan. 11 at St. Matthew's Lutheran church. The couple is now at home at 136 East Second street.

Miss Marjorie Hart, David Parrett Tell Wedding Date

FEBRUARY will soon rate second to June in nuptial popularity, if young people of the city continue to announce wedding dates for next month with the same frequency as they have in the past few weeks. Word came this morning of the approaching marriage of Miss Marjorie Hart and David Parrett.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hart, 39 Cedar street, attended Mansfield Senior high school, and is now employed at the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company. Mr. Parrett, son of Rev. and Mrs. Samuel R. Parrett, 168 Lexington avenue, also attended the high school, and is employed at the Barnes Manufacturing company.

Miss Hart and Mr. Parrett will be married Feb. 18 at 2 p. m. at the Gospel center with Mr. Parrett's father officiating for the ceremony.

The bride's mother and Mrs. Parrett entertained Saturday night at the former's home with a party to announce the wedding date. A telegram delivered to Miss Mildred Hart and read by Lewis Stambaugh revealed the coming nuptials. Pink and white appointments were used to decorate the refreshment table.

Contest prizes were won by Mrs. H. D. Au, Mrs. Mildred Wheitner, Mrs. L. A. Roadpouch, Miss Geraldine Mowry and Mrs. Stambaugh.

CHANGE PLACE.

Members of the Happy Times club will meet with Mrs. Nettie Mentzer, 342 East Fourth street, Thursday instead of with Mrs. Milton Grice as was formerly announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Goemann, 127 Park avenue west, are stopping at the Fort Harrison hotel at Clearwater, Fla.

Raemelton Group Holds Riding Party, Tea

Fifty members and guests of the Raemelton Riding club gathered for a party at the Riding hall yesterday afternoon. A polo game and riding were diversions of the afternoon, followed by tea at a table centered with a floral piece. Mrs. L. J. Ott presided.

Mrs. E. R. Hartman, Mrs. Donald Black and Mrs. S. Glenn Vinson were in charge of arrangements for this affair, the first in a series of monthly club parties.

Cleanliness Has Always Rated As Civilized Virtue

Among civilized peoples cleanliness has always been considered a virtue, but like many other virtues, the road to it has not always been an easy one. People of bygone ages had to labor for cleanliness.

Human slaves poured scented water for Cleopatra's bath and went down to the river to launder the strips of linen she wore as clothing. When the early American Indians wanted to bathe, they piled heated rocks around their huts and poured water over the rocks to produce hot steam.

Our grandmothers and their hard-working forebears had to pound their soiled clothes on the stones of the river, or boil their own soap, rub the soiled clothes on a washboard, and lift heavy kettles of water from the stove to the tub, and from the tub to the sink. History abounds with similar examples of hard work undertaken in the interests of cleanliness.

The days of human slavery are past and in their place we have harnessed the forces and elements of nature. Water is piped through miles of underground mains to our faucets. Coal, oil, and gas, with their ready, heat-producing flames are brought to us from the depths of the earth. Electricity has been captured to make machines work at our bidding. And to use in conjunction with these mighty forces, we have soap, the compact product of skilled mechanical science, made from ingredients that are gathered from many lands.

Feb. 10 Chosen By Katherine Albers For Her Nuptials

THIRTY friends of Miss Katherine Albers learned of her approaching marriage to Paul Davis when her mother, Mrs. H. B. Albers, feted her with a tea from 3 until 5 oclock Saturday afternoon at the family home, 30 Lexington avenue.

Mock theater passes, distributed by Bobby Wolf, nephew of the honoree, revealed that the nuptials ill be an event of Feb. 10 at the First Lutheran church. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will perform the ceremony at 2:30 p. m. The couple will be attended by Miss Jane Bruce and Vernon Davis, brother of the bridegroom-elect.

Mrs. E. D. Flinn, aunt of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Frank Cave, Mr. Davis aunt, presided at the tea table, which was centered with a mixed floral piece.

Mrs. Albers presented her daughter with a testament, which she will carry for her wedding. Miss Virginia Derr of Ft. Wayne, Ind. was an out-of-town guest at the tea.

Miss Albers, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Albers, was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and is now a cashier at the Park theater. Mr. Davis, son of Mrs. Carl Gatton, 194 Bowland road, is also a graduate of Mansfield senior high school. He is an employe of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Federation Sets Dates For Varied Cultural Events

In addition to the extra program which will be given Friday at 11 a. m. at the Women's Club under the sponsorship of the Mansfield Federation of Women by Mrs. Thomas Ahrens, several other interesting events are scheduled for the federation calendar in the remaining weeks of the current season. Luncheon will be served Friday at the club following the lecture on South America by Mrs. Aherns.

Just a week later, Jan. 25, Dr. Arthur Walwyn Evans will talk on "What America Means to Me," and Feb. 15 Paula LeCler will give a lecture on "What They Told Me." The last lecture in the series will be on modern Australia by Dr. James Marshall. All three of these events will be lecture luncheons.

Two more luncheon bridge parties, one March 28 and one April 18, will be social events, and the annual meeting and tea on April 2 will include a play reading by Mrs. J. C. Wilson.

Celebrate Anniversary With Dance For Friends

In celebration of their 20th wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Peter Marfia, 239 West Sixth street, entertained 50 friends and relatives last night at the Prospect park pavilion with dancing and music. King's orchestra played, and a buffet style luncheon was served.

The table was decorated with white appointments, and a large bouquet of chrysanthemums. The wedding cake was topped by a ring, the gift of Mr. Marfia to his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Marfia, who are the parents of two children, were married Jan. 15, 1920. The couple received a number of gifts.

* * *

FETE PAIR.

Mr. and Mrs. Elson Heichel, 35 Chestnut street, entertained Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Darling. Mrs. Darling, granddaughter of the Heichel's, was Miss Anna Mae Mowry before her marriage. Pink and white appointments were used when refreshments were served, and cards were played by the 50 guests present.

MISS VIVIAN MILLER TO WED MR. MOSEY

Approaching Marriage Revealed At Tea Given Yesterday Afternoon; Couple Will Exchange Vows Jan. 28.

WHEN Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller and Mrs. C. M. Chatlain entertained with a tea at the Colonial Guest House from 2 until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, they announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their sister and niece, Miss Vivian Miller, to William Mosey.

White napkins printed in gold revealed, "Vivian and Bill, Jan. 28" to the 60 guests in attendance at the affair. The quiet wedding will be solemnized before the altar of the First Presbyterian church with Rev. David N. Roller officiating at 12:30 p. m. Miss Mary Elizabeth will be her sister's only attendant, and Mr. Mosey has chosen his brother, Allen, to be his best man.

A bouquet of lavendar sweetpeas and yellow roses centered the tea table yesterday, and it was lighted with white tapers in two two-branched candelabra. Miss Juanita Miller, another sister of the bride-elect, and Miss Isabel Mosey, Mr. Mosey's sister, presided at the table.

Miss Vivian, who is the daughter of William Miller, 11 Blanche street, was graduated from high school in Orrville and is employed now at the H. L. Reed company. She is a member of Beta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority and of Chi Sigma sorority. Mr. Mosey, son of William Mosey, 99 West Second street, attended Ohio State university following his graduation from Mansfield Senior high school. He is an employe of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

On Wednesday evening a group of Miss Miller's associates at Reed's store will honor her with a party at the home of Mrs. Trellis Miller in Lexington.

* * *

MEET TOMORROW.

Members of the John Simpson Junior high school P. T. A. will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at 20 Bowman street for a program on social hygiene. Mrs. Roy Curry, social hygiene chairman of the Mansfield council of P. T. A., and Miss Wilma Snider, instructor in physical education, will be the speakers.

Little Mozarts Hear Program On Harps, Flutes

Elisabeth Braker entertained 39 members and guests of the Little Mozarts at her home on Sherman avenue Friday evening. Margrethe Jorgensen, president, conducted the business, while Margery Huber and Ruth Swisher played piano solos.

Miss Betty Smart, a guest of the evening, played a group of harp selections and gave a brief talk concerning the instrument. The Misses Lois Ohler, Jeannette Werner and Ruth Hockett, also guests, composed a flute trio, playing several numbers and giving a discussion of them.

Roll call was answered with the names of composers, after which Marcella Grau told of the childhood of Chopin. Luncheon was served following a musical game. The club president has invited the members to her home on Bartley avenue for a meeting of Feb. 9.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested treatments.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, January 16.

THE afflicted aspects of three of the major planets may make this a difficult day. There are signs of conflicting impulses and decidedly opposite objectives, although there will be much force and enterprise to be brought to bear when plans and programs are finally decided upon. This enerby may be fitful, erratic and possibly belligerent, with fluctuations between strife, tubulence and discouragement. However, there are definite auguries for composing discords and hostility by tact or strategy, but in all contacts and correspondence be alert and cautious.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year of confusion and conflict, with great difficulty in making a choice between two or more contradictory urges. The energies are under high pressure and the mind torn between two fields of operation, with alternate aggressiveness and frustration, initiative and depression. In writings of every nature use caution.

A child born on this day may have many conflicts of character and impulses, with much tension and initiative accompanied by gloom, indecision and eccentricity. Proper training might eradicate such idiosyncrasies.

Tomato juice cocktails are put on a party footing when served with Poppy seed sticks. Brush strips of bread with melted butter, sprinkle with poppy seeds, and toast. Serve hot.

The Washington monument cost $1,300,000.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

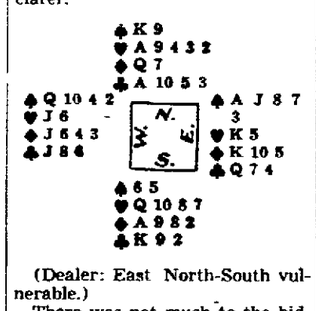
"The Authority on Authorities"

PREVENTING END PLAYS

WHEN a defender holds guarded honors in all suits, none of them in sequence, he is in a tough spot every time he gets the lead. Each time he does, his return is likely to present the declarer with a trick which could not be won otherwise. It is therefore wise for him to exert his cerebellum in order to figure out ways to throw the lead to his partner or the declarer.



(Dealer: East North-South vulnerable.)

There was not much to the bidding, but plenty to the play of this duplicate deal. East called 1-Spade, West 2-Spades, North doubled, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts, West leading the spade Q at both tables, covered by the K and A.

East was in a bad situation, hating to lead. At one table he next played his spade J, then led the diamond 5, the J falling to the Q and ending any chance for declarer to lose a trick there. The diamond 7, 10 and A trick was followed by a ruff of the diamond 9, killing the K. Next came the heart A and a repeat to the K. East was end-played again. A spade lead would have given declarer a club discard and ruff, so East led his club 4 to the J and A, and a finesse then prevented any club losers, so that the contract was made.

At the other table East, after winning with the spade A, used foresight. Rather than be end-played, he led a small spade, hoping West had the 10. He did, then led the diamond 3, the 10 forcing the A. South now saw he probably had to win all the trump tricks, so led the Q and let it ride. When the K won, East returned the trump 5 to the A. The diamond Q was returned, losing to East's K. He returned another diamond, so that later his side got a club trick, setting it two because he was not end-played at all, whereas the other East got end-played twice.

"The Star Spangled Banner" did not officially become the American national anthem until 1931.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Mary! Mary!" I remonstrated, as she made her vicious little wish.

"That's what you wish, too," she said, "only you're too much a lady to say so. But," she added hopefully, "if Olina only raises enough of a racket, perhaps Papa-in-law will be so busy trying to discipline her that he'll lay offen me. But"—and now her voice was lugubrious—"I don't suppose any of this alters the fact that he'll want to throw me out of the rehearsal tomorrow."

"He may want to, but he won't," I told her, emphasizing my words with a click of my teeth. "And that reminds me: As soon as Mr. Veritzen goes, you and I must get to work. I want to check on your rendition for the last time before we spring our big surprise. But I don't want you to be in evidence."

"I'll dash back to my room as soon as I've had breakfast," she assured me, "and I won't stick so much as an eyelash out of the door until I'm sure the coast is clear. And I'll have Noel get dressed up so he can go out and greet Papa and tell him I'm studying my role, or sleeping, or 'reeling and writhing and fainting in coils,' whichever explanation he fancies most in order. Are you going to lie low, too?"

"I'd like to," I replied, "but I'm sure your father-in-law will wish to see me about that harp proposition, so I'm going to be in evidence."

"Poor Auntie Madge!" she apostrophized, "always getting the raw deal! But as there doesn't seem to be anything I can do about it, I'll amble along and get my breakfast so that I can duck out of the way. Wonder when Olina will get hers."

"I'm going to have Katie take breakfast trays up to them very shortly," I said.

"You always do solve problems the nicest way," Mary commended. "I thank you from the bottom of my heart for keeping Olina away from the breakfast table, where I'd have to be polite. I lasted through the tennis game nobly, but I'm afraid my veneer would crack if I had to smile at her much longer."

"You won't have to see her again today," I promised.

"On that, I can promise to appear wreathed in smiles and scattering sunshine tomorrow," she said. "Ta, ta!"

With an airy wave of the hand she sped away to the house, and after a minute or two I followed her but went directly to my own room where, as I expected, Lillian was awaiting me.

"You look as if the canary had been safely swallowed," she said. "Sit down and spoon the spinach."

For the third time, I went over my interview with Olga. Lillian listened without comment, although I had the impression that once or twice she was simmering with suppressed laughter. When I had finished, she put a crisp question.

"When did you say Phil is coming?"

"Half-after-ten."

"Then," she directed, "you stay up here. As I understand it, you want to see him, but you don't want him to get any false ideas about your being able to be around much today, so that he won't want to spring that rehearsal on you."

"You are eminentiy correct," I said, smiling at her.

"All right. I'll be Tabby at the rat hole while he's 'putting his fortune to the test' in Olga's suite. When he comes out, I'll tell him so sweetly that you're terribly tired, but you'd like to see him for just a few moments. Then when you do see him, stress the fading invalid note.

Then as an ever-present anxiety thrust itself up from my subconsciousness, my mood sobered, and I put an anxious question.

"How is Father?" I asked.

Landis Lashes Out Again At 'Chain Gang' Operators

Baseball Commissioner Charges Detroit Used "Fake Agreements"; 92 Players Free.

By TOM SILER

CHICAGO — (AP) — Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who always has the last word in organized baseball, has spoken again, and as a result the far-flung farm system of the Detroit Tigers is a mere shambles.

Landis, in a report yesterday, wrecked the intricate "chain-gang" setup of the American league club and warned all baseball executives of even more severe penalties for similar rules infractions in the future.

* * *

He charged Detroit and affiliated clubs used "fake agreements," "false certificates of club relationships," "cover-up" deals and similar practices in operation of a farm system.

* * *

The nine-month investigation brought the following action:

1—Free agency was awarded 92 players, valued at close to $500,000, including pitchers Paul Trout, Lloyd Dietz and Steve Rachunok, infielder Benny McCoy and outfielder Roy Cullenbine of the Detroit club. The other 87 were scattered among 15 minor league clubs.

2—All player transfers, except on waivers, between Detroit (including Beaumont of the Texas league and other subsidiary and affiliated clubs) and Toledo (American association), Fort Worth (Texas league) and Lake Charles (Evangeline league), or their subsidiaries or affiliates, are prohibited for three years from the present time.

3—The Chicago Cubs were fined $1,000 for contacting McCoy and Cullenbine before the inquiry was completed in the interest of their future employment in case they were declared free agents. The St. Louis Browns were fined $500 for contacting McCoy under similar circumstances.

* * *

4—The free agencies granted the 92 players will not become effective until Jan. 29 and no club may contract them before that date. Detroit and the clubs operating with Detroit in these rules violations cannot contract with any of the players for three years.

* * *

5—Cleveland of the American league was ordered to pay $2,000 to Walter Carson, New Orleans Southern association outfielder. Toledo, Detroit affiliate until recently, sent Carson to New Orleans and was paid $2,000 for his contract. Toledo, in turn secretly gave this amount to Cleveland.

6—Several other players entitled to free agency were disposed of by Detroit and farm clubs to other clubs for value.

Landis said he was giving notice to all clubs that the "evils of common control of player dealings of two clubs in the same league and perversion of 'working agreements' into arrangements for the wholesale 'covering up' of players must cease.

Only one of ten Toledo players declared free agents will be missed by the Mudhens next summer, according to Waldo Shank, club president.

* * *

Shank asserted pitcher Pat McLaughlin was the only player Toledo was counting as a regular.

* * *

Other Mudhens given their freedom by Landis were: Cecil Dunn, Kenneth Huff, Ralph Younckер, Eugene Hinrichs, Thomas Tight, John O. Johnson, Hilton O. Lehnhardt, Herbert W. Nordquist, and Stidman Talley.

Nation's Top Quintets Face Stiff Tests

Purdue and Michigan Tangle With Tough Rivals in Big Ten Circles.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Although it is harder to do than unscramble an order of eggs, they are trying to bring order out of chaos this week and establish regional basketball leaders in the country's major sections.

* * *

For example, in the midwest, Purdue and Michigan are tied, but both go through acid tests—against Minnesota and Illinois, respectively—tonight, and only one may come out unscathed.

* * *

The Missouri Valley tie gets untagled when the Oklahoma Aggies and Creighton's cagey crew meet.

Big Six fans could ask for no more exciting engagement than the one they will see Thursday, when Kansas and Missouri, on top of the heap, collide.

Colorado, Big Seven defending champion, can close the gap on unbeaten Utah by trouncing Denver and Colorado State, while the Utes play Wyoming.

* * *

On the Pacific Coast, Oregon State's Beavers have a pair of doubleheaders which, if successfully hurdled, will make them harder to catch than a scared trout.

* * *

In the east, unbeaten Dartmouth has a couple of tests against Ivy League foes, and victories there would move the Indians ahead of Yale, victor in its only league test, which has only one game—with Cornell.

REFORMATORY QUINTET BEATS RITTMAN, 38-34

Led by Clay, the Ohio State Reformatory basketeers tripped the Rittman Shamrocks, 38 to 34, on the Reformatory court Saturday night. Clay was high-point man for the evening with 12 tallies. The Inmates led, 24 to 15, at the intermission.

Battle for Wrestling Championship Tonight

The world's junior heavyweight wrestling title will be the stake for which Billy Weidner of San Francisco and the Great Mephisto will battle tonight in the Armory.

* * *

These two brilliant 190 pound wrestlers are to meet in the most pretentious and important wrestling event that Mansfield has ever seen and they're scheduled to grapple for the two best out of three falls with an hour and a half time limit.

* * *

Weidner, one of the most powerful men in the world at any weight won the four month junior heavyweight tournament staged by the MWA defeating the powerful lumberjack "Oregon" McDonald in the finals at Columbus, O., three weeks ago.

Mephisto, handicapped severely by a bad chest cold which made breathing difficult failed to reach the finals of that tournament but nevertheless he stands out as one of the most dangerous threats to the regime of Weidner as ruler of the 190 pounders.

* * *

The sensational mystery man, now fully recovered from his cold will be out there gunning tonight for the title and Weidner faces the fight of his life to keep the coveted belt he so dearly won.

* * *

The Masked Marvel returns in the semi-final to meet Davey Reynolds of Iowa, while the opener at 8:30 pits Bob Steele, Mansfield lad against Ralph Akers, rugged Michigan mat star.

Meet In Playoff For PGA Crown

SARASOTA, Fla. —(AP)— Jock Hutchison of Chicago, once holder of the U. S. and British Open crowns, and Otto Hackbarth, veteran Cincinnati golf professional, met in an 18-hole playoff today for the National PGA Seniors' golf championship.

Texas Aggies May Not Play Bucks

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Texas A. and M. probably will be forced to refuse the Oct. 5 spot on the Ohio State University 1940 football schedule because of previous commitments, it was reported reliably today.

The Ohio State Athletic board offered the game to the Sugar Bowl champions to round out its maximum schedule of eight games.

If the Aggies decline the game, it was considered likely that the date would be left vacant and that West Virginia University would be invited to meet the Buckeyes on Nov. 9.

Ohio State's schedule game with Chicago Nov. 9 was cancelled by Chicago's withdrawal from Big Ten football.

HUTSON STARS AS PACKERS WIN

By HENRY McLEMORE

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—A total of 55 men engaged in the football game here yesterday in which the Green Bay Packers defeated an all-star team chosen from the other nine clubs in the National professional league by a score of 16 to 7.

* * * * * *

But only one man — just one — was the difference between victory and defeat for the Packers.

* * * * * *

His name is Hutson—Don Hutson, the old Alabama boy who ran Stanford crazy in the Rose bowl a few years ago.

* * * * * *

Hutson is the greatest pass receiver who ever lived. He is the only man who ever played who could have made the Venus De Milo a reputation as a pass thrower. All a back has to do is to get the ball in the air and Hutson will catch it.

* * * * * *

It was his catch of a 65-yard forward that sealed the doom of the All-Stars. From back of the goal line Cecil Isbell wound up and let the football fly. With two All-Star defenders by his side Hutson raced down the middle of the field. On the All-Stars' 35-yard mark he looked upward, stretched out his hands, pulled in the ball, and went on for a touchdown.

* * * * *

That was the score that broke the hopes of the All-Stars, and after the game was over all of them, from Coach Steve Owen to the waterboy, paid Hutson tribute.

* * * * *

"There is no defending Hutson," Owen said. "We put two men on him, just as every other team in the league does, and two men aren't enough. He's a genius."

* * * * *

Davey O'Brien, one of the greatest passers of all time and a man who appreciates men who can catch the ball, had this to say of Hutson:

* * * * *

"You'd have to be a passer to appreciate Don. On that long one yesterday he judged it so beautifully. When he went past midfield he stole a peak and saw he was ahead of the ball. So he slowed down, slowed down so slowly the defenders wouldn't notice it.

* * * * *

"Then, all of a sudden he went into high gear, swept away from them, and took the ball in full, wide open stride on the 35-yard line. Watching him you realize what a difference there is between good receivers and great ones."

* * * * *

Every one of the All-Stars agreed with Owen and O'Brien. There was not a member of the All-Star squad who did not say that Hutson was in a class by himself, and that without him the Packers would be just an ordinary, second rate team.

* * * * *

This, mind you, despite the fact that the Packers have such players as Clark Hinkle, Arnie Herber, and Cecil Isbell.

* * * * *

The All-Stars produced some fine players. O'Brien was great. So were Johnny Drake, Kim Poole, and half a dozen others. But they were all overshadowed by a long and lanky boy who just knows one thing—to reach his hands toward heaven and yank that football down.

Teams Collect 3000 Totals In Traveling League Matches

Mansfield High Quintet Invades Shelby Tuesday.

The Mansfield high Tygers trek to Shelby Tuesday night to tackle the dangerous Shelby high Whippets in the first contest of a home-and-home series. Bob Lehman, crack center, who is one of the leading scorers in the North Central Ohio conference, is expected to make it interesting for the Mansfielders. Lehman has averaged 16 points per game this season. Mansfield will be seeking its fifth win.

Liederkranz Hits 3112 Mark, While Ritz Night Club Scores a 3014 Count.

MANSFIELD clubs who entertained rivals in the North Central Ohio Traveling league at the Meder Recreation alleys over the week-end didn't show any mercy for the visitors.

The Liederkranz keglers started things rolling Saturday night by smashing out a spectacular 3112 total as they won three games from Tiffin.

* * *

With Clyde Ritter coming through with a brilliant 676 score to pace the attack, the Mansfielders put together games of 1068, 1012, and 1032. Ritter, who opened with a 232, added a 209 and a 235.

The Ritz Night club bowlers came nearing matching the Liederkranz' performance Sunday by collecting a 3014 team count to sweep their match with the Lorain Coca Colas.

Clarence "Sonny" Meder was high for the Night club team with a 647 series, compiled on games of 220, 201 and 226. John Leppo trailed him with a 617, which was topped by a 244 opening game.

In the Liederkranz-Tiffin match, Nick Schmidt had a 647. Harold Selby a 603 and Henry Michaels an even 600.

* * *

The Mansfield Moose No. 2 team won three games from the Barberton club in a Moose Traveling league match at the Meder alleys. Renner paced the winners with a 568.

* * *

Paced by Cheny's 476, the Orange Street Cafe women's team dropped two games to the Wooster B. & F. Transfer company women in a match at the Meder alleys Sunday.

* * *

The Mansfield Ohio Public Service teams in the OPS Traveling league made a clean sweep of their matches at Ashland Saturday. Mercer hit a 608 total as the No. 1 outfit beat Ashland No. 1, while Swimley's 556 was high for the Mansfield No. 2 team.

* * *

The Greystone night club lost two games to Ashland in a match at the Meder alleys Saturday. Orlie Grable busted the maples for a 632 to pace the Mansfielders.

* * *

The Commercial Managers won three games from the Mansfield Savings Bank in a postponed club league match at the Meder alleys Sunday.

* * *

Although McMullen contributed a 528 score, the Meder Recreation women dropped two games to Bob's Sandwich Shop women's team in a match at Bucyrus Sunday.

JIMMY DEMARET WINS OAKLAND OPEN TITLE

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—Texas Jimmy Demaret held the Oakland Open golf title and $1,200 prize today, but Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., furnished the last-round fireworks.

Pacing the field for 63 holes, Heafner in the last nine holes yesterday had to climb a tree to dislodge a ball, then missed a three-inch putt. He finished in a second-place tie with Horton Smith and Ben Hogan at 282 strokes. Demaret finished with 281 strokes.

REGISTER VICTORIES IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Watch New Hampshire's Early Primary

DEMS, G. O. P. SEEKING TREND ON PRESIDENCY

Politicos Keep Eyes on First Primary; Third Term Issue to Get Test.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Democratic and Republican chieftains today began training their sights on New Hampshire to see whether the state sheds light on the outcome of next November's presidential race in its election March 12 of delegates to the two national conventions.

The New Hampshire presidential preferential primary will be the nation's first in the 1930 campaign.

On the Democratic side, the voters may express their views on the third term issue, as some of the candidates will be men pledged to the renomination of President Roosevelt. Other candidates for places on the delegation will be pledged to Vice President Garner, Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, and possibly Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

On the Republican side, the chances are the voters will elect an uninstructed delegation, despite the fact that a native son, Senator Styles Bridges, is a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

This outcome will be no blow to Bridges, who himself is running as a candidate for delegate at large "without instructions." Bridges favors the uninstructed delegation as a means of keeping "strife" out of Republican ranks this year.

Roosevelt Silence Obstacle.

Few observers here expect New Hampshire to send a Roosevelt delegation to the Democratic convention. Principal obstacle to this is the president's own silence on a third term, and his refusal to do anything openly or actively to secure the nomination. If the New Hampshire voters do elect some Roosevelt delegates, it will be due largely to the personal activity of the candidates who run on a third-term pledge.

The Garnerites in New Hampshire will be fighting the third term issue directly and publicly, because the vice president is seeking the Democratic nomination "regardless of all other possible candidates."

The McNutt supporters will be doing the same thing indirectly, but McNutt personally is pledged to turn over all his delegates to Mr. Roosevelt in event the president seeks a third term. Thus far, Wheeler has not emerged as a presidential candidate, and what his friends do in New Hampshire will be strictly on their own responsibility.

The Republican primary may result in "no contest," because the active candidates, Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio—like Bridges—have declared they will not invade the home states of favorite sons.

3,000 Dog Owners Have Week to Buy Tags, Warden Says

More than 3,000 Richland county dog owners have less than a week to buy their 1940 dog tags without paying a $1 penalty, Dog Warden William Miller warned today.

With the deadline for old tags set for Saturday, only 2,300 tags have been sold today, Miller said. He estimated that more than 6,000 persons must buy tags this year.

To handle the anticipated rush this week, two stands had been set up today in the main corridor at the courthouse to sell tags.

Tags for male and spayed female dogs cost $1 each, while the charge for females is $3.

MEETS TONIGHT ON '40 FINANCES

Council to Consider Appropriation Bill at Session.

City council will meet at 8 p. m. today to consider the recommendations of the finance committee on the appropriations bill for the year.

The finance committee met with city officials last Thursday night to consider the measure. Auditor Paul Kelley had estimated the city's income at $742,782, but after paring down most of the operating expenses of city departments, the committee allocated $612,606, of which $299,697 was to go to the general fund.

The entire appropriations have been set up by the committee and city council is expected to set up the bill as a city ordinance at its meeting tonight.

CLUB ELECTS

ASHLAND—Mrs. E. G. Mason was re-elected president of the Friday club here at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Delozier.

Other officers named include Mrs. B. H. Brown, vice president; Mrs. P. E. Decatur, secretary, and Mrs. G. R. Dannley, treasurer.

GETS $20 FINE

Nova Motorist Loses Right To Drive For 60 Days.

Karl F. Hanville, Nova, who was arrested by highway patrolmen Saturday night, was fined $20 and costs in municipal court this morning and his driver's license suspended for 60 days.

Hanville was charged with unsafe driving after an accident on route 178. He told police that his car had skidded into the path of a second car when he attempted to stop at a bridge. Fred R. Cox, R. D. 1, was the driver of the other car.

end had brought the country to "stage D," preceding general mobilization.

Selected auxiliary military services were removed from the fortified Liege region and hundreds of civilians evacuated the Eupen, Malmedy and St. Vith areas east and southeast of Liege on the German frontier.

Belgium spent an anxious Sunday as soldiers hurriedly reported for duty and staff cars dashed through cities and the countryside with urgent orders. There was slight relaxation of tension today but there was no indication either of the reasons for the extraordinary precautions taken or for the relaxation.

A usually well informed source reported, without confirmation, that "Italian circles" on Friday night had warned that there was danger of an imminent attack on Belgium. The identity of the alleged "circles" was not specified. Apparently, they were not official. It was recalled, however, that Crown Princess Marie Jose of Italy is Belgian and that there are other non-official "Italian circles" with close connections here.

Britain Cancels Military Leaves.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Sudden, unexplained emergency military precautions by Great Britain, Belgium and the Netherlands sent a thrill of apprehension through Europe today.

Leaves were suspended for an indefinite period in the British Expeditionary Force in France.

The British war office made the announcement late last night that "leave service" from the British Expeditionary Force had been suspended temporarily.

The war office declined to amplify this announcement, which came as a complete surprise after a day in which news of the Belgium and Netherlands precautions had been flashed. Leaves of 10 days had been granted soldiers in the British Expeditionary Force since mid-December.

Newspapers generally suggested that the Holland and Belgian precautions were evidence that both governments had received strong evidence of a possible German threat.

Nazis Blame Allies For Belgium Alarm.

BERLIN — (U.P.) — The official German News agency D. N. B. said today that emergency military measures taken by Belgium and Holland had been taken at the instigation of the French and British.

"In view of the impossibility of activity along the Maginot line they (France and Britain) now are seeking to provoke Germany in Holland and Belgium," D. N. B. said.

Well-informed quarters in Amsterdam and Brussels, D. N. B. said, are aware that the information which caused Holland and Belgium to take precautionary military measures was furnished by the British and French governments.

"One has the impression that the tendency to more active conduct of the war has won the upper hand on the French side," D. N. B. said. In authorized quarters it was said:

"We are watchfully waiting to see how far Belgium and Holland will allow themselves to be influenced by this (British and French) incitement."

UNION ELECTS

Wierman Named President of Musicians' Group.

Wilbur W. Wierman was elected president of Mansfield Local No. 159, American Federation of Musicians, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in Smart's Studio of Music. He succeeds Earl P. Black.

Other officers elected are George Ireland, vice president; H. A. Beilstein, secretary-treasurer; Joe Hrivnak, sergeant-at-arms, and Lawrence M. Todd, trustee for a term of three years.

STILL NEAR DEATH

SPRINGFIELD — (INS) — H. A. "Buck" Rider, 43, assistant state conservation commissioner, was reported in "not good" condition in Springfield City hospital today. Rider was critically injured last Tuesday when his car skidded into a tree.

FBI Extends Search After 18 Are Arrested in Scheme to Overthrow Government.

ing and firing which had been set for Jan. 20—next Saturday.

While the store of "revolutionary" arms here was comparatively small, Hoover indicated many more guns and bombs might be found elsewhere.

He said elaborate plans had been made for the theft of armament for revolutionary use from national guard arsenals. In fact, six of those under arrest were listed as members of the New York national guard, one as a member of the naval reserve and another as belonging to the marine reserve.

One was described as a member of the German-American Bund, whose fuehrer, Fritz Kuhn, is in Sing Sing prison for stealing Bund funds.

"The group depended," Hoover said, "upon terrorism and ultimate demoralization of communities to attain their objective. First of all they aimed at terrorization of Jews—all Jews. At the same time, according to their plans, they were to seize communications, transportation systems, customs and postoffices."

Accused As Leader.

He said the leaders of the alleged conspiracy were John F. Cassidy, Brooklyn head of the "Christian Front," and William Gerald Bishop, leader of a "sports club," known as the "Country Gentlemen," secretly operating behind the front.

Cassidy, he said, was saluted Nazi-wise and addressed by the followers as "fuehrer."

Hoover disclosed that much of the evidence against the alleged conspiracy was obtained with long-range cameras operated by FBI agents from vantage points around the training camp of the organization at Narrowsburg, about 100 miles upstate in New York.

There, he said, the men were drilled in the use of arms and the making of bombs.

While the FBI pursued the investigation with all seriousness, Mayor LaGuardia scoffed at the damage that might be wrought by the alleged revolutionaries.

"I don't think the United States government is in much danger from 18 guys like these," he said.

Cassidy has professed himself to be a follower of principles outlined by the Rev. Charles Coughlin, but the Michigan radio priest last night, "roundly disavowed" any connection with the "Christian Front" whose members are under arrest.

Father Coughlin charged that "this so-called Christian Front" was of communist, or bundist, origin.

GANNETT READY

Publisher To Announce For G.O.P. Presidential Nomination.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Frank E. Gannett, the newspaper publisher, will formally announce himself as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination at a dinner to be held in his home city of Rochester tomorrow night, according to a report circulated today in New York political circles.

Gannett's announcement as a presidential candidate would probably deprive District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of unanimous support of the New York delegation of 92 to the GOP national convention.

BURGLARS STEAL SAFE

TIFFIN—(AP)—Burglars didn't take any chances by lingering at Elbert R. Myers' bakery to crack his 300-pound safe. They lugged it with them. In it, Myers said today, were $70, records and accounts.

NINE CITY WATER EMPLOYES GIVEN OUSTER NOTICE TODAY

Nine Class B workmen in the city water department were notified today that they were being dismissed from their politically-controlled jobs by James E. Warrack, recently appointed superintendent of the water department.

One other is slated to go within a few days, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today.

These ten jobs will be replaced by new men, he said. Three full time workers will be cut from the pay roll in an effort to meet the $5,000 reduction which the finance committee made in the water department's appropriation for the year, Crafton said. Of this sum $3,500 was taken off the laborers' payroll.

The men who received their notice today were L. C. Rogers, Floyd Miller, Conrad Sheets, Tony DeCross, Louis Lehr, Peter Feich, John Sager, Karl Horning and Adam Lehman.

Only five of the seven replacements had been hired today. They are Frank Carmel, Dale Au, J. D. Phillips, Wilhelm Mertler and C. V. Neff. Two others will be named later, Crafton said.

One other new face appeared at City building today. Miss Willeen Treisch took up her duties as the new switchboard operator. The position was formerly held by Miss Esther Snyder, who was appointed by Former Mayor Claude M. Hunter two years ago.

CITY'S TRAFFIC TOLL LIGHT ONE

Saturday Night Accident That Hurt Four, Minor Crashes Reported; 15 Die in Ohio.

Four persons who were injured in an accident at West Fourth street and Penn avenue Saturday night were the only ones hurt in Richland county traffic over the week-end although a number of minor accidents were reported, a survey showed today.

Ohio traffic killed at least 15 persons, one of the largest week-end tolls of the winter.

Police reported 10 accidents in Mansfield, most of them resulting from slippery streets or failure to observe stop signs.

Claude Wert, 23, of 190 Newman street, most seriously hurt in the crash at West Fourth street and Penn avenue, was removed to his home yesterday after receiving treatment for head injuries at General hospital.

Others who received minor cuts and bruises in the accident were Mrs. Harold Marvin, 190 Newman street; Miss Dorothy Beck, 182 Newman street, and Miss Janice Garvin of Shelby.

Among the Ohio traffic fatalities were Mrs. Conrad Balduff, 63, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Balduff, 37, fatally injured at Port Clinton.

DIES AT AGE 72

Mrs. Sadie Hafer to Be Buried Tuesday.

SHELBY—Mrs. Sadie E. Hafer, 72, mother of Patrolman William Hafer of the Shelby police department, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John LaTerner, 45 Park avenue, after a lingering illness.

Born in Stark county Aug. 1, 1867, she was a member of the First Methodist church and the Security Benefit association. Surviving are her son, William Hafer; a daughter, Mrs. LaTerner, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Dick and Dye funeral home with Rev. Arthur Staples, pastor of First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

DEDICATION OF SCHOOL PLANNED

Simpson P. T. A. to Discuss Program at Meeting Tuesday.

Plans for the formal opening of the new John Simpson Junior high school building are to be made at a meeting of the school's Parent-Teacher association at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at 20 Bowman street.

The program will feature a discussion on the topic, "Social Hygiene," by Miss Wilma Snider, girl's physical education instructor, and Mrs. R. C. Curry. A short business meeting will follow the program.

POLICYHOLDERS MEET

SHELBY — Approximately 200 policyholders of the Richland Equity Mutual Insurance association are expected in Shelby Thursday for the annual policyholders' meeting of the association at the K. of P. hall.

FAMILY AWAY, HOME LOOTED

Orbison Residence Ransacked, Neighbors Scare Intruder Away.

Police today were investigating the ransacking of the home of William E. Orbison, 21 Brinkerhoff avenue.

The house had been entered and every drawer emptied and contents scattered over the floor.

Polic Chief Meade K. Bates, who said that officers were working to find fingerprints today, said that a large and heavy bundle of loot had been left in the front hall when the intruder evidently had been frightened away by neighbors, who were using the Orbison garage.

The family is in Florida for the winter, but friends will occupy the house from now until they return, police said.

YOUNGSTOWN — (INS) — While one child remained in South Side hospital recovering from burns, funeral arrangements were being made today for Mrs. Irene Beight, 34, and her 16-year-old son Jack, burned to death in a fire which damaged their cottage two miles south of nearby Poland.

The father, Paul Beight, 39, a steel worker, and four other children escaped from the blazing building and Paul Beight, jr., 12, was taken to the hospital

WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE STARTS YEAR'S WORK

President Names Committees to Carry Out Program; Four to Attend State Parley.

The year's program for the new Mansfield League of Women Voters got under way today when Mrs. Kathryne Bancroft, president, announced standing committees for the year.

Heading the important works program is Mrs. F. David Boals. Under this works program there will be a number of department chairman which are specified by the national and state leagues.

Those who have been named to date are Mrs. Thomas J. McDermott, department of government and operation; Mrs. Charles Fuchs, department of government and economic welfare; Mrs. Ward Ingraham, department of government and child welfare.

Other standing committee heads announced today were: Mrs. Sherman Glessner, membership; Mrs. J. Carville Gorman, finance; Mrs. R. R. Black, rules; and Jane Williams, publicity.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Boals, Mrs. Glessner, Mrs. Black, and Mrs. Ben Esgar, secretary of the league, will drive to Dayton to attend the conferences which will be held at the Miami hotel.

The entire conference and committee meetings will revolve around "Protection For The Consumer." Speakers from various state departments will talk on dairy products, the pure food and drug administration and various phases of agricultural products from the consumers' standpoint.

RULES ON UNION

NLRB Rejects Westinghouse Employes Association.

The National Labor Relations board today refused to recognize the Westinghouse Employes association as the bargaining representative of Mansfield Westinghouse workers, a dispatch from Washington said.

In dismissing the association's petition, the NLRB explained that its decision was based on a secret poll Dec. 28 at the Westinghouse plant in which employes rejected the association as their bargaining agent by a vote of 1,445 to 943.

The United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers union, a CIO-affiliate, withdrew from the election in December but campaigned against the employes' organization.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Hint and Run. By Harold Gray

YES- YOU ARE VERY FOXY, JUDGE HARPE- BUT YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND OLD NICK-NEVER DO I FORGET A FRIEND---OR FORGIVE AN ENEMY---FRIENDS OR ENEMIES--- THERE ARE NO NEUTRALS IN OLD NICK'S BOOK---
1-15-40
ANSON JOG TRIED TO KILL ME- YOU, FOR YEARS, WERE ANSON'S FRIEND-ER THAN PAL--SO YOU CAN NEVER BE OLD NICK'S PAL--SEE? BESIDES, NOW YOU WOULD RUIN MY YOUNG FRIEND JOHN TECUM-THAT'S BAD-
BUT I'VE GOT HIM COLD-
YOU THINK YOU CAN RIDE ROUGHSHOD OVER ALL LAW- WELL, BY GAD, I'LL SHOW YOU YOU CAN'T-- I'LL AROUSE THE DECENT PEOPLE IN THIS CITY--- I'LL — I'LL--

LEADING ISSUES POINT UPWARD IN TODAY'S MART

Chrysler, Montgomery Ward Among Leaders as Buyers Lift Their Bids.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Buyers lifted their bids a little in today's stock market and leading issues generally pointed moderateley higher.

Tacking on modest plus signs were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, and Standard Oil of N. J.

Bonds were mixed but commodities did better. European securities markets inclined to back away.

Financial quarters studied the survey of the magazine "Steel" which found current orders for metal were averaging between 40 and 60 per cent of shipments, with backlogs declining more rapidly.

While the National Machine Tool Builders' association estimated operations in this field during December rose to the highest level for any month last year, orders recently were said to have been falling appreciably under shipments.

BRONCHIAL
COUGHS DUE TO COLDS
To quickly relieve DISTRESS—when a cold affects your upper bronchial tubes—REMEMBER it takes MORE than "just a salve!" You need to rub your chest, throat and back with a warming, soothing "counter-irritant" like good old reliable Musterole which penetrates the outer layers of the skin and helps break up local congestion and pain. Its soothing vapors ease breathing. Used by millions for over 30 years! 3 strengths: Regular, Children's (mild) and Extra Strong. 40¢. Hospital Size, $3.00.

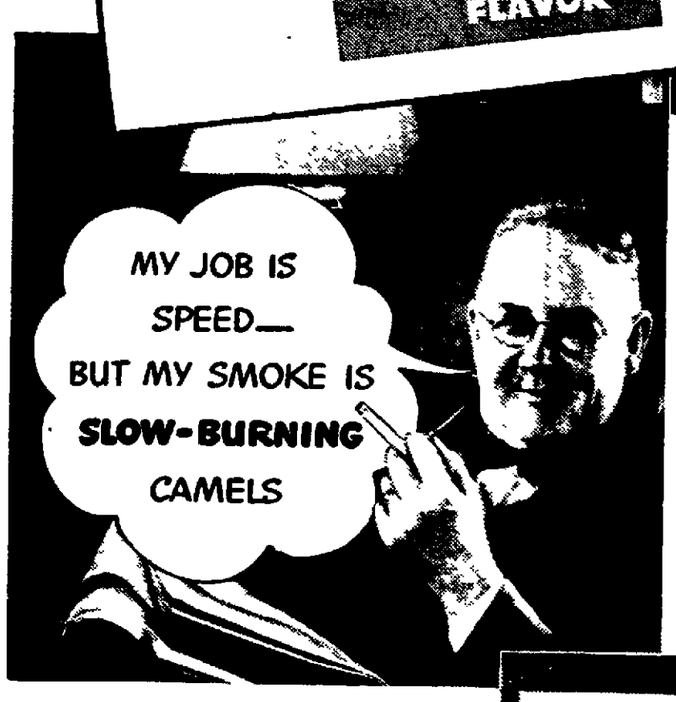
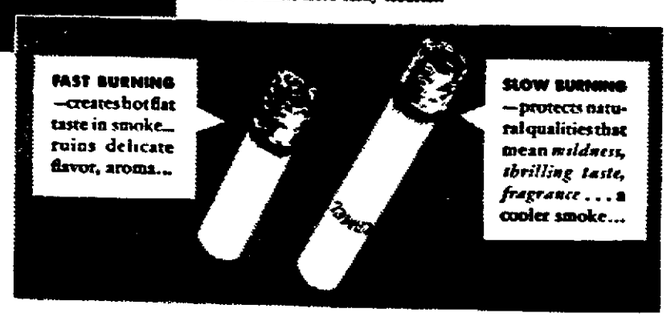
EXTRA MILDNESS
EXTRA COOLNESS
EXTRA FLAVOR
THE CENTURY READY TO "HIGHBALL," as they say in railroading! Engineer Walter L. Bronson (above) swings up into the cab of Number 5449, one of the big Hudson type locomotives which flash at 80 miles an hour across the landscape between New York and Chicago in a day-in, day-out epic of modern railroad speed.



TAKING IT EASY, Engineer Bronson says: "No speed for me in my cigarette. That slower-burning feature makes sense to me. I've been a Camel smoker for years. I know Camels are milder and always taste swell. And I don't object a bit to getting those extra smokes per pack."
HERE'S EXTRA MILDNESS, EXTRA COOLNESS, AND EXTRA FLAVOR, and here's why: Camels are slower-burning. They have thoroughbred quality through and through. Finer, more expensive tobaccos are used, in the first place. And these choice tobaccos are combined into a matchless blend.
Smoke a Camel. Notice how slowly it burns. That is your clue to true cigarette enjoyment—the "extras" of mildness, coolness, flavor—and—extra smoking in every cigarette. Camels burned 25% slower than any other cigarette in recent tests (full details below). You'll always rejoice over the day you switched to Camels!
Smokers: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX
Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (Say right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.


FAST BURNING —creates hot flat taste in smoke... ruins delicate flavor, aroma...
SLOW BURNING —protects natural qualities that mean mildness, thrilling taste, fragrance . . . a cooler smoke...
In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

Sherwood Hints at Irregularities In WPA at Athens

DIRECTOR GETS SET TO START RELIEF PROBE

Keeps Report of 4 Auditors Secret; WPA Chief Admits Separate Quiz Opened.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — On the eve of his investigation into the Athens county relief crisis, State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood intimated today the probe might uncover evidence of irregularities in the use of local matching funds for WPA projects.

Sherwood refused to discuss in detail the report just received from the four auditors he assigned to study the Athens county relief picture. However, he let it be known it contained information concerning alleged irregularities in certain county highway and bridge construction projects.

Detailed findings of the report, he asserted, will not be disclosed until the matter is discussed with Fred C. Shafer, county relief administrator, and the Athens county commissioners.

Dr. Carl W. Watson, state WPA administrator, indirectly admitted the federal government has been conducting a probe of its own. Any action resulting from the government investigation, he said, would follow the recommendation of the investigators.

Sherwood declined to say what action the state would take if the charges are substantiated. It was believed, however, that he would officially advise Governor Bricker of the situation so the chief executive might ask the attorney general to launch a grand jury probe.

Won't Alter Plans.

Meanwhile, Sherwood's determination to "clean up the mess in Athens county relief" assumed added importance with his declaration that the $30,000 appropriation voted by the county commissioners for January, February and March relief "will not alter my plans to go there and conduct my own investigation."

Sherwood intimated that from 20 to 40 per cent of the 6,200 persons receiving relief aid in the county were "chiselers." The county's population is about 45,000.

At least part of the blame lies with the county administration, the director charged, and threatened to set up state administration of relief if the local authorities were unable to carry on properly.

"We're not going to see relief stopped down there," he asserted, "but neither are we going to permit it to be administered in haphazard fashion.

"If they don't straighten things up, we must straighten them up for them."

Trooper Freed In Death of Girl, 14, Faces New Charge

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa.—(INS)—Acquitted of the murder of 14-year-old Joan Stevens by a jury that reached its verdict late Sunday afternoon, Corp. Benjamin Franklin of the Pennsylvania state police today still faced prosecution on an involuntary manslaughter charge in the same case.

District Attorney Albert Heimbach said he had not yet determined whether this lesser charge would be pressed in view of the not guilty verdict on the second degree murder and manslaughter indictments.

The jury began its deliberations 8:05 Saturday night and returned to the courtroom at 4:50 Sunday afternoon with the verdict. The huge bell atop the courthouse was tolled 15 times to announce to the townspeople that a verdict was reached.

Franklin contended he shot the girl in self defense when she threatened him with what he believed was a gun while he and another trooper were questioning her in their car concerning advance information on bank robberies which she claimed to have. Joan's weapon proved to be a toy pistol.

Charles Conklin, Mansfield architect, was explaining to his friends today that his black eye and the bump on his nose didn't result from a mix-up with a better fighter. The injuries, he said, were the result of his attempt to avoid hitting a dog with his car near Cleveland Saturday night. When he swerved the machine, it skidded into a telephone pole, throwing him against the windshield. The car struck the dog anyway.

When the Mansfield board of education meets tonight it probably will be for the last time in the board's headquarters in the Richland Trust building. By the time the next regular meeting date comes around, the board's headquarters and superintendent's office will be in the new John Simpson junior high school building. The school administration offices have been in the Richland Trust building since December, 1936.

When Safety-Service Director C. M. Crafton walked into the fire station in City building and asked if the horses had been curried and properly exercised, the fire laddies thought he was a bit balmy. But the new director had just read the rules and regulations governing the Mansfield fire department and one of the rules says that "it shall be the duties of the drivers of the horses to keep them well and carefully fed, shod and cleaned" and to look after the harness. The rules book was issued in 1913 and has not been changed. It is as antiquated as the four fire trucks.

Twelve Children Survive Mrs. Anna Cox, Native of Richland County.

WILLARD—Mrs. Anna Cox, 79, mother of 13 children, twelve of whom survive her, died at her home in Richmond township west of here at 6 p. m. Sunday. She was the widow of William Cox.

Mrs. Cox was a native of Bellville, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Gurney. Most of her life, however, had been spent in this vicinity.

Six daughters and six sons survive. They are Mrs. John Hough, Plymouth; Mrs. Lelah Osborne, New Haven; Mrs. Nattie Yarnell, Ashtabula; Mrs. Hermie Frederick, Akron; Mrs. Freda Holms, Sandusky, and Mrs. Bessie Ditter, Washington, Ind., and Fred R. Cox, Mansfield; David of New London; Perry of Ashtabula; Earl and John of Shelby and Clyde of Willard. A sister, Mrs. John Rang, Richmond township, also survives.

Short services will be held at the home at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, followed by services at 2 p. m. at the Bethel church in Richmond township. Rev. Patterson of Attica will officiate. Burial will be in Bethel cemetery.

MOTHER, 27, DIES

Mrs. Estella Charles Succumbs at Hospital Today.

Mrs. Estella Loveland Charles, 27, of 120 West Sixth street, a native Mansfield resident, died early today at General hospital after a brief illness.

Mrs. Charles, who was born Dec. 16, 1913, is survived by her husband, Roy C. Charles; two sons, Lee Clyde and Richard Allen; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Loveland of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Agen of Canton and Mrs. Zona Gossom of Mansfield, and two brothers, William H. Loveland of Mansfield and James C. Loveland of Ashland.

The body was removed to the Jones Memorial where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor of St. John's Evangelical church officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the Memorial.

MOTHER DIES AT HOME OF SON

Mrs. C. D. Einsel Stricken Sunday; Funeral Wednesday.

PLYMOUTH—Mrs. C. D. Einsel, 79, died here Sunday night at the home of her son Donald, with whom she had made her home for the past year.

Mrs. Einsel had lived in Plymouth for the past four years, coming here from Bloomville. Surviving besides her husband are two sons, Ray of Tampa, Fla., and Donald of Plymouth; a sister, Mrs. Alta Aultmiller and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the Presbyterian church here with Rev. James Thomas officiating. Burial will be in Bloomville cemetery.

BEVIS TO GET $15,000 YEARLY AS PRESIDENT OF OHIO STATE

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Dr. Howard L. Bevis, Ohio State University president-elect, today expressed his eagerness to "get on the job" as he inspected the campus of the nation's fifth largest school.

Dr. Bevis will take command of the institution Feb. 1 at an annual salary of $15,000. His inauguration will be delayed pending completion of arrangements for an elaborate ceremony, but Chairman M. Edith Campbell of the board of trustees said it would be held "before spring."

The trustees, in announcing the $15,000 salary, restored pay cuts accepted voluntarily by Dr. George Rightmire during depression years. Dr. Rightmire was receiving $10,248 a year when he retired July 1, 1938.

Dr. Bevis has been professor of law and government at Harvard university for the past five years. Formerly, he taught law at the University of Cincinnati, was state finance director and served on the Ohio Supreme court.

At a banquet given in his honor last night by faculty and alumni representatives, Dr. Bevis promised his "whole-hearted devotion to this great opportunity."

He praised college football as "a rallying point for the entire university" because it "crystallizes the loyalties of the students."

"I have a definite feeling that football does something for colleges that nothing else can do," he said.

The trustees conferred the title of "president emeritus" upon 75-year-old Dr. William McPherson, who has been acting president of the university since the retirement of Dr. Rightmire.

URGE SESSION

Richland Alliance Delegates Call for Relief Action.

Six members of the Richland County Workers Alliance returned Saturday from Columbus where they joined other Alliance delegations in requesting Gov. John W. Bricker to call a special session of the legislature to set up more relief funds.

Conferring with Welfare Director Charles Sherwood, the Richland county group also urged that more WPA projects be set up in the county and more surplus commodities be provided for relief families.

The combined delegations from the larger Ohio cities asked for an additional $6,000,000 for relief this year.

John Sparks, president of the county Alliance, pointed out that there was no relief crisis in Mansfield, but added that more WPA projects will forestall the possibility of a crisis and cut relief costs.

MRS. LEEDY, 63, STRICKEN SUNDAY

Native of Bellville Had Been Ill a Week; Rites Tuesday.

BELLVILLE — Mrs. Nora Leedy, 63, wife of A. T. Leedy, died at her home south of here Sunday morning. She had been ill for a week.

Born near Bellville, Mrs. Leedy had lived in this vicinity all her life. Beside her husband, she is survived by a son Walton, of Mansfield; a sister, Mrs. Bertha Crawford of Fredericktown and two brothers, Forrest Long of Bellville and Walter of Mansfield, as well as one grandchild.

The body will be at the A. A. Shafer funeral home until tomorrow morning, when it will be removed to the home, where funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Paul Zimmerman will officiate and burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

LAWMAKERS TO SEE ROOSEVELT ON PLAN AGAIN

Congress Leaders to Call on President as Storm Grows Over Neutrality Stand.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt decided today to send congress a message dealing with proposals to extend material relief to Finland.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Amid mounting congressional opposition to any direct, unrestricted loan to Finland, Democratic leaders went to the White House today for clarification of the president's views on this subject.

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed at a press conference Friday that he had asked congresional leaders of both parties to work out the problem of giving assistance to the Finns. He said the Russian attack on Finland, the destitution of large numbers of persons and the need for maintaining Finnish independence should not be a party matter over here.

Seek President's Stand.

Subsequently, both Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, and Senator McNary, the Republican leader, told reporters they would not wish to act without the views of the administration. Many legislators of both parties expressed apprehension that a direct loan might involve the United States in the turmoil abroad, and the White House then gave assurances that the president's attitude would be clarified at his weekly conference with Democratic leaders this morning.

Two senators—Adams (D., Colo.) and George (D., Ga.)—expressed the opinion that this government should proceed with extreme caution in aiding Finland.

Both expressed sympathy for the Finns but added that this nation could hardly maintain its position as a neutral if it gave active aid to Finland.

Prime Minister Risto Ryti of Finland reported recently that his country's exports were sufficient to pay only a part of the cost of arms and munitions needed to fight the Russians and that "the time has come when foreign credit is essential to us."

This government's export-import bank has already extended $10,000,000 of credits to Finland for the purchase of farm surpluses and civilian supplies in this country.

DIES SUNDAY

Frank Strong, 78, Succumbs to Long Illness.

FREDERICKTOWN — Frank Strong, 78, of Fredericktown, died Sunday morning at a rest home in Mansfield after a lingering illness.

Mr. Strong is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Frank Bull, Mrs. Hattie Hollaway and Mrs. Opal Lamb of Fredericktown; and Mrs. Lulu Butler of Mt. Vernon; two sons, Barnard of Mansfield; and Dewey of Fredericktown; a sister, Mrs. Alice Johnson of Oklahome City, and a brother, Bert of Darlington, O.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the North Fork church in charge of Rev. Archibold of Waterford. Burial will be in the church cemetery. The body will remain at the Bollinger funeral home in Fredericktown until time of services.

YOUNG TO RUN

Clevelander to Seek Election as Congressman-at-Large.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Stephen M. Young, former congressman-at-large, today announced he will again be a candidate for that office in the Democratic primary.

Young called himself a New Deal Democrat in announcing his candidacy and added that "President Roosevelt has made mistakes, but he did not make the mistake of doing nothing when men and women were jobless and little children were hungry."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Income Tax Suit Likely To Reveal Full Story of Bioff's Climb to Fame

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—A new woe has arisen to harass Willie Bioff, the distinguished bargaining agent of the stage and moving picture workers, but he is able to time his triumphs, so his latest unhappiness is compensated by a victory.

In Los Angeles the federal grand jury has indicted Mr. Bioff on a charge of failing to report income of $33,000 in 1936 and $170,000 in 1937, years when this humble colleague of the likewise humble and selfless William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was giving of himself for the toilers of the movie trade.

• • •

At the time that the indictments were reported, however, Willie was insisting on a technical gain in wages for his subjects. This was the second time in two months that Willie, when plagued by revelations of his private affairs, was compelled to come through with a small present for the workers.

If the diligence of the prosecutors holds out and the rich vein of pay dirt in Bioff's career doesn't run out, the simple rank and file of his unions might become rich like Mr. Bioff himself.

Experts in criminal geology, on the basis of samples taken, express the belief that the pay dirt in Willie's career is another Comstock lode, so things look bright for the toilers.

• • •

Mr. Bioff developed his talent as bargaining agent and the peculiar ethics which enabled him to get rich on the modest official pay and allowances of a union agent by serving as bargaining agent for prostitutes in Chicago. Mr. Bioff speaks sentimentally of his hard and humble beginnings in the bargaining line and, like most self-made giants, doubtless desires people to believe that success has not changed him.

That is easy to believe without any great insistence on his part. In fact, that is one of the reasons for all the heat that has been turned on to burn Mr. Bioff out of the union which extorts an income tax from American workers amounting to 10 per cent of their gross earnings and has been known to extort an initiation fee of $3,000.

• • •

The income tax prosecution would seem to promise fascinating information on this inspiring success story and on the business methods and personal character of some of the most distinguished movie entrepreneurs. Willie got $100,000 from a movie magnate several years ago—in fact, about the very time his income is said to have reached $176,000 a year. His official salary and allowances that year were only a little over $10,000—not bad, to be sure, for one whose early work as bargaining agent had brought him an uncertain income in money which was dirty in more ways than one.

But it might be kept in mind that Willie's union, by its control of the stagehands of the theater and in conjunction with the musicians' union, had practically wiped out "the road" and almost abolished the American stage outside New York, thus creating an almost total monopoly of theater entertainment for the moving picture industry.

• • •

The movie industry certainly owed a debt of gratitude for that, although, of course, the stagehands who were thrown out of work and the actors who also lost employment might question whether labor shows a net gain in the process. And, though Willie has won two nominal and somewhat fictitious book-raises for the movie unions, each raise coinciding with a disclosure concerning himself, it is not necessary to believe that he always drove the best possible bargains in their behalf. If he was bargaining hard for the workers, no magnate would have been likely to give or even lend him $100,000.

This is one of William Green's most important unions, and Mr. Green's comment on the revelations concerning Bioff, therefore, constitute a resounding affirmation of the policy of the A. F. of L. on the subject of racketeers in the labor movement. Mr. Green has said exactly nothing. That is what makes his comment so resounding.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

By MELCHIOR LENGYEL

(The author of "Ninotchka" tells of some Great Actresses he has known—for Robbin Coons on vacation.)

HOLLYWOOD—It was in the garden of Director George Cukor's lovely home that I first met Greta Garbo.

She was dressed in a blue sailor suit—slacks, of course. No make-up on her face, not even lip-rouge, and this tends to give the effect of extreme pallor. Nor was her hair any too well cared for—it hung in large natural waves to her shoulders. Every moviegoer is acquainted with her wondrous deep, melancholy eyes. But out in the open the sparkling of her eyes is even more interesting: these eyes at once reveal the genius of their possessor.

There is no trace of artifice, of "pose" in Garbo. She delights in laughter. When listening to others, she is all attention. She bears out an old theory of mine—that only those who are without real talent are harsh of voice, overbearing and egocentric of manner. Every great artist I ever knew was an excellent person in private life.

Attentively Garbo heard my "Ninotchka" story. She asked one or two questions, but it was evident that she had embraced the character on first hearing—the character which a year later she portrayed with such stupendous artistry. I think it would be wonderful to see Garbo on the stage just once: I am convinced that we would witness the miracle of a second Duse.

• • •

I CONSIDER Elizabeth Bergner a very great artist. Our acquaintance dates back to her days on the German stage—later we produced "Catherine the Great" in London with her in the stellar role. She is one of the most keen-witted women I know, and if she has any faults at all, it is perhaps her overabundant intelligence. Her faculty for criticism—and self-criticism—is so sharp as to impede her in creative work: evidently that is why she so prolongs her periods of inactivity between appearances.

Few people would believe of Marlene Dietrich, who represents a cold brilliance and glorified sex on the screen, that she is absolutely natural, very wise, and extremely witty in private life—an excellent story-teller.

• • •

BUT of all the stars whom I have learned to know in Hollywood, Katharine Hepburn is perhaps the most likeable. She is a splendid creature, filled with a spirited benevolence. She sparkles with good will, and with energy. In a short time she will become America's first actress.

My standards of mensuration are very high, for I was fortunate enough to know Duse, Bernhardt, and more recently, the greatest actresses of the nations whose stars have since set. But I feel safe in saying of today's talented ones that, even if perhaps they are not such outstanding personalities, the best of them are surely not inferior to the great of yesteryear.

It is unfortunate, however, that the storms of Europe have now swept a few such gifted players as Ida Roland, in many of her roles unsurpassable; Paula Wessely of Austria, and several great German actresses now wasting away on the unsubstantial spiritual diet of the Nazi Reich.

Deplorable, too, is the loss to the world of the talented actresses of the small countries such as Hungary and Poland—these have never had the opportunity to present themselves to the audiences of any great European or American metropolis.

For, I have to tell you, the finest actress I have ever known was a Hungarian: Irene Varsanyi.

the party." He added 'that he was prepared to support such a candidate to the "full extent of whatever capacities I may possess."

Bromfield's withdrawal reduced the number of Democratic primary candidates in the 17th district for Ashbrook's seat to four. Those remaining and who have announced their candidacies are Frank Cave, Richland county, William Haas, Delaware county; W E. Purdy, Coshocton county; and B. B. Ferenbraugh, Knox county. It is believed possible that several others may yet enter the race.

Four candidates are also seeking the Republican nomination in the district primary contest for congressman. They are J. Harry McGregor, Coshocton county, James A Glenn, Coshocton county; Oliver H. Dockery, jr., Licking county, and Walter B. Woodward, Richland county.

It was believed here today that the "circumstances beyond control" to which Bromfield referred, were his writing contracts, both for his publishers and in Hollywood. He expects to finish work in Hollywood this week and leave with Mrs. Bromfield to spend two weeks in San Francisco, returning to his Richland county farm about Feb. 1.

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. G. W. Taylor, 52, to Be Buried Tuesday.

Mrs Leah Bollinger Taylor, 52, of 66 Parkwood Boulevard, wife of Glenn W. Taylor, died early today at General hospital after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Taylor, who was born May 7, 1888 in Mansfield, spent most of her life here. She was a member of the St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

Surviving are her husband, three sons, Richard, Wayne and Howard of Mansfield; a sister, Mrs. John Griffith of Grant's Pass, Ore., and a brother, Oscar Bollinger of South Bend, Ind.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in charge of Rev. Charles Sheriff. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

WIPER TO TAKE CADDELL'S POST

Former Safety Director of Columbus New Secretary of Industrial Commission.

Don Wiper, former Columbus safety director, today was named secretary of the Ohio Industrial commission, dispatches from Columbus said today.

Wiper will succeed A. D Caddell, former Mansfielder, who resigned in compliance with a request from the commission. Caddell had served as secretary since 1934. He received a salary of $4,600. Wiper will be paid $4,000 a year.

Commission Chairman Will T. Blake today appointed Harry L. Sain, Dayton, as assistant superintendent of the department of safety and hygiene, and James H. Davis, Columbus, as supervisor of the commission's legal department. The appointments are effective tomorrow.

Sain, who will receive $4,350, succeeds A. L. Rose, Akron, who resigned at the end of 1939 at the age of 73. The appointment of Davis to his $4,000-a-year position, to succeed C. C Core, Columbus, is in line with the reorganization policy of the commission, Blake said

OPENS INQUIRY

U. S. Assigns Croxton to Make Investigation of BUC.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The federal social security administration today assigned Fred C. Croxton, former Ohio employment director, to make a survey of recent complaints against the state bureau of unemployment compensation.

Robert C. Goodwin, regional social security director, said Croxton would arrive in Columbus today to "make a preliminary survey to determine if grounds exist for an investigation."

If Croxton finds grounds exist for an investigation, the social security board will name a presiding officer to conduct a hearing for both sides and make recommendations.

The CIO last week charged H. C. Atkinson with maladministration as director of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1940.

The federal debt is now close to $45,000,000,000—isn't that the limit!

Here it's the middle of January already, and the anxiously awaited 1940 seems to be moving alone quite like other years.

That marriage license clerk who thought a 10-year-old girl was of marriageable age may be related to some of those bartenders who are deceived by 14-year-old patrons.

Welfare of America First

A WARNING is contained in the statement of Attorney General and Supreme Court nominee Frank Murphy, that "the purveyors of hatred, the provokers of civil division and strife, the swaggering apostles of force and violence, are methodically and with premeditation laboring to bring the United States into the same conditions of group hatred and civil war that have destroyed the peace of Europe."

In some ways it is easier to work such mischief in America than in many foreign countries. Racially we are not a homogeneous people. We have here individuals and groups representing all the countries of the world. The great majority of these immigrants and their children have gone through the melting pot and are now good representatives of the American system and the American viewpoint. But some are still susceptible to Old World influences, especially at a time when Europe is seething with hatred and some of the prejudice and passion spills over into our national life.

The only way to resist this disturbing influence is for Americans, whatever our racial origin or sympathy, to put the welfare of this country ahead of all foreign considerations. We cannot permit a European war to go on here—ideological or otherwise.

Failure to Observe Stop Signs

WHATEVER may have been the cause of the collision of two automobiles at the corner of West Fourth street and Penn avenue last Saturday night, in which four persons were injured, it is recalled that the same corner was the scene of a traffic fatality not so long ago, and that it is among Mansfield's dangerous residential street intersections at which a stop is required before entering the main thoroughfare.

It was asserted in this instance, by the motorist driving west on Fourth street, that the driver of the car traveling south on Penn avenue failed to stop before entering the intersection.

Whether this was done is a matter to be disclosed by police investigation, but there can be no doubt that this is a quite common practice among some motorists and that, in addition to the numerous collisions which result from disregard of stop signs many other accidents are narrowly averted because of carefulness of the driver who has the right of way.

Offending motorists realize, of course, that all street intersections cannot be policed, and "take a chance" on ignoring a stop sign that is intended for their own protection, as well as that of pedestrians and other motorists.

In some cities it has become quite common procedure for careful motorists to note the license numbers of habitual violators of this and other traffic regulations and report the numbers to the traffic bureau of the police department so that a warning can be sent to offenders.

With a 35-mile speed permitted on highways running through the city, except in the business sections, the importance of making a full stop before entering thoroughfares from intersecting streets or alleys should be recognized by every competent motorist, and should be voluntarily observed at all times.

Federal Spending Reduces Jobs

LABOR'S most serious problem at this time is federal spending and its allied evils, debt and taxation. Uncontrolled spending accompanied by annual deficits of two to four billion dollars are a threat to the security and the existence of every job.

Last year 163 typical American companies, employing 2,854,000 workers, paid total taxes of $1,643,000,000—the equivalent of $576 per employe. This staggering amount could not have been paid unless the companies had trimmed operating costs to the bone. That meant fewer jobs and less wages.

Moreover, that part of government spending not covered by present taxation must be made up in the future. And there is no one to make it up but America's working middle class. If total income of all those receiving more than $100,000 last year were confiscated by taxation, it would pay cost of federal government for less than 15 days, according to American Taxpayers association.

The one solution to this problem lies in removing politics from our tax system. Until it is done there can be no relief from reckless political spending and the growing specter of national bankruptcy.

American labor has a vital stake in the issue, and the power to do something about it. Heretofore labor has not been slow to seize opportunities for betterment. By demanding the removal of politics from taxation, it would benefit not only itself but the nation.

Cleveland's Traffic Oddity

TRAFFIC control and driving practices, on the whole, are fairly uniform throughout the United States. But there is one notable exception. Cleveland insists on the "rotary" or "outside" turn instead of the "inside," when turning left at a crossing.

In a recent poll of Cleveland opinion on this disputed practice, three-fourths of the drivers and 86 per cent of pedestrians favor the rotary plan. They insist that it is safer and more convenient than the usual procedure. And so everybody from anywhere else has to use it when driving through Cleveland, whether he likes it or not. Clevelanders, when driving elsewhere, are usually annoyed by the refusal of the rest of the country to adopt their system.

By the rotary plan, when a driver comes to a crossing where he wants to turn left, he swings to the right while he has a green light, and stops while the through traffic flows by; then when the light changes he turns left with the green.

Civilization's getting too sophisticated. Remember when people could play happily for hours, dancing a little wooden ball on a rubber string?

It appears to be the New Deal job-holders who are much more interested in a third term than President Roosevelt himself.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—A former counsellor of the German embassy in Washington, now seemingly in poor standing with the Nazi regime, can give you a few fresh slants on the European war.

In a three-column letter to the New York Times, the former counsellor, Ernest Wilhelm Meyer, cautions against thinking that Germany will collapse easily, and suggests that the Allies may have to revise their propaganda if they expect to undermine Hitler.

Of the need of raw materials and the effectiveness of the blockade, he says:

"Only major land battles result in a very large consumption of copper, cotton, rubber, etc., and if, under the protection of his Westwall, Hitler refrains from major land battles, his need for raw materials will be greatly limited."

Of the oft-expressed view that Goering is a conservative with whom the allies could negotiate a peace if Hitler were removed, Meyer says:

"To regard Goering as a conservative is tantamount to calling Gandhi a warmonger or Trotsky a capitalist."

Of the Russian alliance, he says:

"The final attitude of Russia is undetermined; the chances of ever closer cooperation with Hitler's bolshevized Germany are many times greater than the opposite chances."

* * *

Propaganda Effective.

HITLER'S constant propaganda that Germany wants not one inch of French or English soil is bound to have effect, says Meyer, especially when British naval losses begin to increase, as they may do with a sustained air attack. After all, he says, no one knows yet just how hard the fleet may suffer from the German air attack.

However, Meyer voices a view held widely here that a victory for Hitler "would be both a defeat for Germany and a defeat for Europe.

"It would be a defeat for Germany, for no transitory increase of military and political power could out-balance the definite destruction of all the better qualities of the German nation as a result of the National Socialist destruction of law and justice; of political freedom, replaced by political insincerity and hypocrisy; of freedom of science, education, art and press; of free labor and free enterprise, of free worship, and of all Christian, ethical principles."

* * *

Germans Not Hated.

SO FAR Meyer has found no bitterness against the German masses, either here or abroad, but wonders whether the bombing of the big cities, so often predicted, would not generate a spirit for another punishing Versailles. That, he said, would bestir in Germany a desperate fear of an Allied victory.

"No help can come from telling the German masses that the war is conducted not against Germany but only against Hitler. Although this might be entirely true, nevertheless they are tragically reminded of 1914-1918, when they were told that the war was conducted against the Kaiser. Yet after the Kaiser, they got Versailles and Germany was dismembered."

It is true, he said, that opposition to Hitler is developing within Germany into a solid front, but the masses, including the conscript army, will not turn against him without a solid conviction that his presence is Germany's worst liability.

"Nothing would better clarify the situation and promote peace by defeating Hitler," he said, "than the proclamation of about the following principles: (a) No change of frontiers except on the basis of self-determination for all, for Poles and Czechs, for Germans and Austro-Germans; (b) establishment of international law, enforceable for the first time in human history because of establishment of an international police force, larger than all private armies; (c) consolidation of some major colonies into an international pool; (d) establishment of a European union—of the United States of Europe."

Ohio Anecdotes

A Frontier Hero.

WILLIAM DIXON, destined to join the ranks of other frontier heroes from Ohio, went to live with his uncle in Missouri after both parents died before he was 12.

Boy-like, Bill wanted to shoot buffalo and hunt Indians. Leaving home at 14, he and a companion hunted and trapped along the Missouri river. Subsequently he was a scout, ranger and messenger, perilous assignments because of Indian hostilities.

Dixon's most desperate experience came Sept. 12, 1874, when more than a hundred Kiowa and Comanche Indians attacked Dixon and five other soldiers. In the first exchange of bullets, all the whites were wounded, one mortally.

Four soldiers took refuge in a buffalo wallow, while Dixon, amid a rain of bullets, carried the sorest wounded man to cover. A steady, effective fire held the Indians off until the main soldier force arrived.

No Sacrifice Is Fine That Ends In Waste.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

TALL, dashing Captain Hans Langsdorff is dead. And it's many a year since a death has so shaken the world.

Commander of the Graf Spee, which he loved as other men love women, doomed by the sailors' code to sink with her at sea, he bowed reluctantly to Adolf Hitler's word and took her into port. Then, when his time in safety had expired, he swung the Graf Spee back to those who waited grimly for him on the evening tide. And, having taken off his crew and fired the Spee, went back to shore—and locked the door—and died.

Why? No one knows. For his own grief or Adolf Hitler's rage? No one can tell. But one thing's certain—Captain Langsdorff fell a victim to some sentimental creed, some grim tradition, poisonous with age, which made him feel that he'd betray his faith, unless he died.

And millions, thinking of that death, will weep . . . and hail his bravery . . . and pray that other young and valiant souls will choose to go his way!

But I can't weep or hail. I can't believe such deaths are brave or right. They seem to me the lowest thing a man can do—that he wreck his precious, useful life to bolster up some savage old taboo or stupid rite.

One sees it often, such vain sacrifice. Not only on the bridge of some doomed ship but in the common conduct of our life. Love linked to Hate . . . and healthy Hope forever yoked to leprous Despair . . . because some morbid spirit made a cult of Pain and Fear.

IT'S VILE—SUCH USELESS LOSS AND AGONY. I'M SURE OUR FATHER NEVER WILLED THAT IT SHOULD BE.

Clean discipline of one's own will to serve a greater cause, that's good. Proud offering that makes both Giver and the Given greater for the gift, that's fine. But sacrifice that ends in bitterness and waste, and serves no lofty purpose, that's as foul as murder, vicious sacrilege.

A man once said—brave R. L. Stevenson—that cheerfulness, of all the virtues, was the first . . . and sacrifice was black as any vice unless it brought a kinder scheme of life . . . a gentler, happier bond from man to man. I think that's true.

The world is poorer for Hans Langsdorff's loss . . . and sicker for the twisted thought that caused that loss. One brave protest's more valiant than a thousand suicides . . . one healthy laugh hits harder than the bloodiest gun. Cowards can die—but heroes live and fight.

NO SACRIFICE IS NOBLE IF IT ENDS IN WASTE.

Opposed To WPA Unions.

America Speaks recently conducted a survey asking two questions: "Should people on WPA be allowed to form WPA unions?" and "Do you think people on WPA should have the right to strike?" Answers to both questions were in the negative by large majorities.

That such questions ever should be raised is an indication of a condition that is not healthy. WPA is not a government enterprise; it is a government worry. Taxpayers assent to the huge costs not for the benefits of WPA labor products, but to prevent suffering. It is the wish and expectation that those who accpet the aid of WPA will be on the watch to get other employment.

If WPA workers form a union they can explain their act only as an attempt to exert pressure on their government, a motive out of harmony with good citizenship. For such a union to strike is a use of force against the government. That public opinion should give assent is unthinkable.—Detroit News.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Count Theo Rossi, the young Italian speed-boat king, sends in a note. . . . But before it is quoted perhaps we should deal in a bit of ancient history. . . . Back in the ninth century someone dug a square wooden tankard out of an Irish peat bog. . . . It was the first, and also the last — until recently—square drinking mug anyone had ever seen. Rossi doesn't own that tankard, but he would like to.

But not so long ago he took time out from his pastime of winning one speed-boat crown after another to design and have made some personal square glasses of his own. Since that incident of the peat bog—so far as anyone knows—his are the first square glasses to be made.

THEY are quite extraordinarily pretty. The ancient coat of arms of the Rossi family adorn them. "I hope," he wrote, "you will do me the honor of putting these to hard service. Don't sit them on some shelf, or make a museum piece of them—put them where they will be handy when friends drop in. They are vermouth glasses. . . . You never heard of a vermouth glass, did you? Neither did anyone else. . . . There are wine glasses and brandy glasses, and every kind of glass—and I thought it was about time somebody made a vermouth glass."

There was more to the note, amiable but unimportant. I might add here that the count, who is one of the world's most eligible bachelors, is also a good business man. The Rossi name is to Italy what Metaxas is to Greece. . . . His is an ancient family of vermouth makers. . . . So perhaps the count may be pardoned for his zeal in the matter of glassware.

Several days ago there was a story about Rossi in which he was described as ubiquitous. This word always makes me think of the late Heywood Broun, whose untimely death stunned New York a little while ago. Broun loved to fashion tales about the origin of words—as a gag, and once, as the story goes, the word ubiquitous came up.

"Why," said he, "do you mean to say you don't know how it began? There was once an Indian chief whose papoose, a daughter, grew into quite a big girl. The chief thought the time had come for her to get out on her own, so he called her and, folding his arms, said, 'You big. Quit us.' And that, declared Broun, was the origin of ubiquitous.

ROSSI has many friends in this country, for he has raced, and won, at Detroit, at Washington, and on the west coast. On his last visit to New York I went down with him to watch him unload three special speed-launches that he had brought over from Italy. They were powered with airplane motors, and they were named after some mountains in Africa which the Italians had captured during the Ethiopian campaign.

Rossi likes to attend to his boats personally, with the same devotion that a cavalryman gives to his horse. He was a spic and span young man when the night began, but when those boats were finally and safely ashore he was a sad spectacle — hair awry, grease across his cheek, his trousers torn, his hands a wreck.

"Now," he said happily, "I can breathe easier."

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—With all the talk of budget pruning, it is interesting to note that two agencies which did not get slashed are the United States senate and the executive offices of the White House.

Apparently neither the legislators nor the president relished curtailing their own expense allowances.

Equally interesting is the fact that the executive office budget this year has jumped to $3,573,700, which is just a nose from the amount to be spent by the senate, namely $3,865,624.

Senate moguls cite this with mingled glee and alarm, pointing out that the United States, under Roosevelt, is approaching a dictatorship, and that the expense of running the presidential offices now comes close to the cost of running the entire United States senate—including the salaries of 96 senators, plus clerks, mineral water, barbers, and railroad travel.

Real fact, however, is that the executive office budget was increased this year by the transfer of the budget bureau, the national emergency council, and other agencies to the White House. This was one result of the government reorganization bill.

Aside from this, however, the senators are right that the cost of maintaining the executive office, taken separately, has increased. In 1939 it was $2,370,877, while in 1940 it will be $2,972,100. This includes the salary of the president, also of Vice President Garner, the salaries of White House clerks, and maintenance of buildings.

The senate budget, which is given in the most meticulous detail, includes: "For folding speeches and pamphlets $18,000. For packing boxes, $970. Laborer in charge of senate toilet rooms in the old library space, $1,200. Twenty-one pages for the senate chamber at the rate of $4 a day each. . . ."

Note—The senate budget scheduled for 1941 is about $173,000 greater than for 1940.

Chip Robert's Waitress.

VIVACIOUS secretary of the Democratic national committee, L. W. (Chip) Robert, came back to his apartment in the Mayflower unexpectedly the other afternoon to find his wife, the glamorous Evie, decked out in an apron and mixing cocktails for a bridge party across the hall.

Hostess at the bridge party was Mrs. Cary Grayson, whose late husband was aide to Woodrow Wilson. Guests at the party included Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Jesse Jones, wife of the New Deal loan czar.

This information, however, Mr. Robert gleaned from the maid. He did not see the ladies, nor did they see him. Instead he picked up the telephone and called Mrs. Grayson.

"Mrs. Grayson," he said, "this is the management of the Mayflower. I'm terribly sorry to disturb you, but you know we have a lot of trouble with the unions, and I understand you are employing a scab waitress this afternoon.

"You know, the regulations of the hotel are that all liquor served in our guests' rooms must be served by a hotel waiter. Otherwise we're likely to have another strike around here."

"Oh, dear me!" exclaimed Mrs. Grayson. "Am I in wrong with the union? What had I better do?"

"Of course," continued Robert, "in view of the fact that you have such a charming waitress, perhaps we can overlook the matter this time."

"Who is this?" shot back Mrs. Grayson, suddenly suspicious.

"This is the waitress' husband."

Capital Chaff.

DORIS DUKE CROMWELL, wife of the new and debonair U. S. minister to Canada, is asking friends all about Ottawa. "Do you think it's really an important post?" is one of her questions. . . . In case they're bored, the Cromwells have a private plane which will take them from Ottawa to their home in Somerville, N. J., in about two hours and 45 minutes. . . . Another scandal is brewing in Louisiana, which may hit more important officials. G-men have uncovered evidence which may be placed before a grand jury soon.

The Seven Counties.

YOU will soon begin hearing a lot about a wage survey just completed by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

In fact, this survey may be used as important New Deal political ammunition during the coming campaign. It indicates what Roosevelt has done for the wage-earner.

One chart prepared by the bureau shows tremendous increases in the total amount of wages paid workers, in the seven principal industrial counties of the nation, in 1937 as compared to 1933, when the Roosevelt administration took office.

According to the study, 153 of the country's 3,070 counties accounted for 75 per cent of all wages disbursed by manufacturing establishments in 1937. And of these 153 leading counties, seven are credited with producing 25 per cent of the year's $10,112,882,711 industrial payroll.

Merry-Go-Round.

WASHINGTON'S Illinois State society is making an innovation at its annual banquet this week. Instead of the usual political big-wig, the guest speaker will be one of the state's leading newspapermen, V. Y. Dallman, editor of the Illinois State Register of Springfield, Lincoln's home town. . . . Sixty per cent of congress does not think Roosevelt will be elected for a third term, according to a poll by Columbia Survey published in Look Magazine this week. On the other hand, 23 per cent of the Capitol Hill moguls thought he would be elected, while 17 per cent couldn't make up their minds. . . . Iowa has something new in the prohibition line; a state temperance director. He is James Pearson, Shenandoah radio preacher, who was appointed by the Iowa liquor commission. . . . Among the scores of autographed pictures that line the office of Postmaster General Jim Farley, the most prized bears this inscription: "To Jim Farley, a practical politician and a gentleman, a rare combination. Will Rogers."

Grandparents

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

EVEN to their own children, my parents were a picturesque and charming pair. Both small of stature, they were little people in all but mind and heart. My mother wore a quaint old-fashioned bonnet with an undercap of lace; my father had a wide black hat and plain black clothes. On Sundays they attended the old-time Dunkard church; on week days they worked, always together, in their little farmhouse or garden.

One of my frequent regrets is that my own children could never know my parents. The longer I live, the more respect I have for the good influence of grandparents upon the growing generation. Grand old people are so wise, so entertaining, so full of understanding. From years of life they glean only the best to give their young proteges.

Think back to your own childhood. You'll agree that the older folk you knew left a more lasting mark than even your parents. Parents were too busy, too preoccupied, to be constantly interrupted by youthful questions. So you crept away to grandfather's side, and he took your hand and led you into the woods and fields, or along the stream, for happy, never-to-be-forgotten hours. Or perhaps you climbed into your grandmother's broad lap and snuggled there to hear of Christian's journeys through the ups and downs of Pilgrim's Progress, or stories of soldiers who marched off to the Civil war, which "seemed like it was yesterday."

To me there is no happier sight than my own five clustered about their maternal grandmother, the littlest in her lap, the others at her feet, asking questions about what mother did when she was a girl—endless youthful questions such as only a grandmother can answer. And grandfather, with two of our irrepressible boydens on his knee is a pleasing, though somewhat boyridden picture. He had forgotten just how rough and tumble little boys love to be. He hesitated to hurt either their feelings or their flesh. Finally the boldest asked, in a puzzled tone, "Are you afraid of me, grandpa?"

Grandparents need not be afraid. They will always have a place none else can take in the lives of little folks. And almost any old and lonely man or woman can find, somewhere, a worthwhile task at grandmothering or grandfathering.
